Student brings BB gun to school

By STEPHEN BJORK
WILMINGTON - Police locked down Wilmington High School on Friday morning after a student was found to have a BB gun on the premises.
At approximately 9:00 a.m., a student displayed an Airsoft BB gun, resembling a 9mm handgun, to other students and to faculty. The school was immediately locked down and School Resource Officer Brian Herman made a radio transmission to police dispatch to alert them to the situation.
"The situation was quickly isolated, contained, and resolved," Schools

Superintendent Joanne Benton told the media just after noon in a press conference held on the Town Common, across the street from the high school.
According to Police Chief Michael Begonis, no direct threat was made. Because the student is a juvenile, his identity was not released and Begonis declined to comment or speculate on his mental state or whether bullying was a factor.
"Of course, it's always a dangerous situation in this type of incident," Begonis said. "There was no threat made directly to anybody. All

Bully prevention plan approved

School Committee Vice-Chair steps down

By JAYNE W. MILLER
WILMINGTON - The School Committee approved a bully prevention and intervention plan at its meeting, Saturday, December 4. State law requires that each district must present a bully prevention plan, including input from a variety of community stakeholders such as parents and local law enforcement, and submit it to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education by December 31, 2010.

Christine McMenimen, Principal of Wilmington Middle School, chaired the committee that worked on the plan. The document was posted online for most of the month of November for public comment. Feedback from the public during that comment period was invaluable, and many of the suggestions were incorporated into the plan.

The plan addressed leadership, training and professional development, access to resources and services, academic and non-academic activ-

13th century and a follower of St. Francis of Assisi. Elizabeth, inspired by the example of St. Francis, used her power and wealth to serve those who are less fortunate, building the first hospitals and establishing houses for orphans and widows.

"The sick, the dying, the elderly and the orphaned, are the people she sought to serve," said Reverend Joseph T. Pinho, of St. Elizabeth's Church, "And we are honoring some people today that belong in that class of people, who serve others with incredible passion and talent."

Lou Cimaglia was awarded the distinction for his founding and spear-heading the all-volunteer Local Heroes program and for his work as Wilmington's Veterans Agent. Local Heroes is dedicated to the servicemen and women serving overseas and to assisting their families here at home. They have sent out over 12,000 care packages to service-members and have helped raise awareness about the troops.

One Member of the church, Cindy Strati had a special thanks for Lou, "I'd like to thank Lou for his support of the troops, and my daughter, Stephanie who is currently in service. Mr. Cimaglia is dedicated to our servicemen and women. Not only is it his job, but I also believe it is his calling."

Lou was humbled by the prize and thanked the parish graciously.

Anita DiLullo and Barbara Mette were conferred the award for their tireless efforts in Wilmington's school bands, both Middle School and High School.

"Music nourishes the soul, it is food for the soul," said Pinho. "Our national mindset seems to be forgetting the liberal arts, and these women keep it alive for future generations."

Ms. Mette has been at the Wilmington High School for more than 20 years, and her passion for the students is evident. She and DiLullo have had an amiable rapport with their students and they use it to instill in them a community-oriented spirit.

One member of the church praised the instructors.

"They teach real inclusion, and caring for each other... We'd call it stewardship. They teach kids how to be a good part of their community, and most of that is taught by example."

Cimaglia, Mette and DiLullo were grateful for the awards and gave their thanks to the St. Elizabeth's community.

Mrs. DiLullo articulated the mindset that gave each of the recipients the ability to serve the community so tirelessly.

"They say that if you love what you do you never work a day and your life," said DiLullo, "And I can honestly say in serving this community, I have never worked a day in my life."

Probation. She was ordered to relinquish all interest in several properties and business ventures in Maine and Massachusetts that were obtained using the stolen funds.

On October 13, 2010, Erika's husband, Darryl McCauley, age 45, pled guilty in connection with this case. Darryl pled guilty to charges of Larceny over $250 (27 counts), Forgery (3 counts), Embezzlement by a Fiduciary, Uttering and Conspiracy.

Darryl McCauley was to serve five to six years in State Prison, with a concurrent probationary period of six years. After the completion of his State Prison sentence, Darryl will have to serve another 10 years of probation. As conditions of his probation, Darryl has been ordered to pay restitution to the victim and submit to financial monitoring by the Department of Probation. He was ordered to relinquish all interest in several properties and business ventures in Maine and Massachusetts that were obtained using the stolen funds.

In December 2008, the Attorney General's Office began an investigation after the matter had been referred by Cook and his lawyer. Darryl McCauley was Cook's half-brother and he used this relationship to profit from Cook's earnings. McCauley was the business manager for Cook from the early 1990's until early December 2008. As the bookkeeper, McCauley was responsible for the management of his client's financial affairs, including the receipt and payment of bills; the receipt, deposit, and management of Cook's income and revenue from various business ventures in which his former client controlled. Investigators discovered that during the period of 2004-2008, McCauley stole millions of dollars from Cook's business and personal accounts by transferring those funds to his own personal accounts. Erika McCauley helped her husband steal millions of dollars from Cook's business accounts and used those funds for her own personal use. Investigators discovered that Erika used the funds to buy hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of jewelry for herself. Erika also orchestrated several investments using the stolen funds including: buying and operating two clothing boutiques in York, Maine, purchasing several condominiums in Maine, and investing in several restaurants in Maine and Florida.

On June 25, 2009, Erika McCauley was arrested at her Wilmington home and arraigned in Woburn District Court. At her arraignment she entered a plea of not guilty and was ordered held on $1 million bail.

A Middlesex Grand Jury returned indictments against Erika McCauley on November 12, 2009. A Middlesex Grand Jury returned a second set of indictments against Darryl and Erika McCauley in March 2010, and both were arraigned on those additional charges in Middlesex Superior Court. On October 13, 2010, Darryl McCauley pled guilty to all charges and was sentenced. On November 24, 2010, Erika McCauley pled guilty and was sentenced.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant Attorney General Eileen O'Brien, Chief Trial Counsel in AG Coakley's Criminal Bureau, and Assistant Attorney General Anne Kaczmarek, also of AG Coakley's Criminal Bureau. It was investigated by Financial Investigator Paul Stewart and the Massachusetts State Police assigned to the Attorney General's Office.

It's Your Money

by Joyce Brisbois

WHY NOT BORROW FROM A 401(K)?

Yes, you CAN borrow from your retirement account to buy a home, to get a large enough down payment to avoid having to carry mortgage insurance. But should you?

Most probably not. There's too much at risk. You'd lose any investment gains the money might gather before the account is rebuilt. Worse, should you leave your job while carrying an outstanding loan, you'd have to repay the money immediately, or face income taxes on the entire amount PLUS a 10-percent penalty for early withdrawal.

There are other options. First, go on a serious savings campaign; trim or stop contributions to the 401(k) plan for a while if necessary. Or, in a tighter time frame, look into an FHA loan, which doesn't require such a large down payment. And while you may have to pay mortgage insurance at first, you can cancel it as soon as your equity in the property rises enough.

What are your options? Which are the best ones? Talk it over with the tax and finance people at

Bully prevention plan

ities, policies and procedures for reporting and responding to bullying and retaliation, collaboration with families, prohibition, and definitions.

Specifically, the plan prohibits any form of bullying, cyber bullying, or retaliation in schools, on school grounds, on school buses, at bus stops, or in school-related activities. In the past, schools could not take action against bullying perpetrated online. Now, the law and this new plan, show that online harassment, teasing, and so forth can disrupt the educational process or create a hostile environment at school and as such the schools will now be able to take action.

Ongoing professional development will be offered to all school staff, including teachers, administrators, counselors, nurses, cafeteria workers, custodians, bus drivers, athletic coaches, and so forth. Research-based training will include developmentally or age-appropriate strategies to prevent bullying and to effectively intervene in an active incident.

The district will also collaborate with local and state agencies to "adopt evidenced based curricula and to provide additional preventative services to students, parents and guardians, and faculty and staff," said the report.

The plan lists the substantial activities already going on in Wilmington schools including one-on-one and small group counseling, crisis intervention, transition planning, and parent workshops.

In several places the plan specifically addresses the needs of students with disabilities - who often become the target of bullies - giving additional training to manage their unique needs, particularly a student with autism, and incorporate those into Individualized Education Plans.

Another key feature of the plan is the counseling that will be offered to targets, aggressors, and family members following an incident. Skill building will be offered to both targets and aggressors as part of the bully prevention curriculum.

The plan includes language stating that safe school and classroom environments will be created for all students, including those with disabilities, lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and homeless students. Further, communication with families comes through the plan as a paramount element to reducing bullying and harassment.

The plan delineates a detailed policy for the reporting procedures, which will also allow anonymous reports of bullying.

Responses to bullying first ensure the safety of the target, including drafting a personal safety plan where necessary. Second, appropriate parties, such as parents and, if appropriate, law enforcement, will be notified of the report. The principal or his/her designee will then begin an investigation of the bullying or retaliation during which time the principal must maintain confidentiality.

Should a determination of bullying be shown the principal would then notify the aggressor's family first. Due to privacy laws and the confidentiality of student records, the principal, "cannot report specific information to the target's parent or guardian about the disciplinary action taken unless it involves a "stay away order..."

The detailed plan is available on the School Department website and will be incorporated into student handbooks next year.

Higgins steps down

In other School Committee business, Vice-Chair Steve Higgins resigned that position due to a heavy workload and increased travel schedule in his job.

"I feel the need to step down from my role as Vice Chair on the school committee. My work commitments have kept me from attending some meetings, more than I should be missing," wrote Higgins in his resignation letter to School Committee Chair Peggy Kane.

"I would like to continue to serve my term as a member, I just feel I am doing a disservice to the Town of Wilmington," said Higgins. "I have always taken my role seriously, and will continue to do so."

School Committee member Leslie Quick will replace Higgins as the new Vice-Chair.

Letters to the editor

From the North Pole to Wilmington

To the Editor:

I wanted to let your readers know that for the 39th year, I was invited by the Recreation Department to spend an evening with the children of Wilmington.

Debbie, Linda and Karen had an area in Town Hall decorated and set aside for me to welcome children, read their lists and see just how much they have changed since last year! Meredith and Jim were there to welcome the children and hand out treats to all.

Holly, Nancy and Donna helped each child craft a remembrance while waiting to visit Santa.

I would like to thank Colleen, Allison, Adam, Liam, Ravi, Kareena, Rita, Jill, Robert, Thomas, Connor, Sydney, Cayley, Alex, Gianna, Anthony, Declan, Macy, Nicholas, Alexander, Bailey, Olivia, Zachary, Isabella, Meagan, Steven, Camden, David, Emily, Luke, Emily, Ella, P.J., Sophia, Layne, Atley, Patrick, Seamus, Cameron, Mackenzie, Madison, Terry, Jessi and Melanie for setting aside time to visit with me. I will take back fond memories of each of them, and will share their good wishes with Mrs. Claus and everyone back at the North Pole.

I will be back in Wilmington very soon! I look forward to visiting with you again next year.

Merry Christmas to all!

Letter to the editor

An open letter to my children at Christmas

(Editor's note: A friend of the Crier wrote this letter to his children, but felt that its message may, during this holiday season, comfort others who have suffered loss. It is being published anonymously with the author's consent and the Crier's appreciation.)

This is our first Christmas without your mother. Remember she died a peaceful death in April when the cancer overcame her. She had always been there for each of us, sometimes wordlessly, other times with more presence. But she had always been there. This year we all are grieving our loss, remembering Christmases past, and all other good memories of how she filled each of our lives.

At this time of year, we should take a moment, then, for our own peace of mind and in an effort to honor your mother in the best possible way at this Christmas season, to attempt to view things in a somewhat different light.

God created us in his image. By this I do not mean that we look like Him. Remember that God is Spirit. We should not try to see Him dressed in a human body, as that can easily be misleading. We are spiritual beings first and physical beings second, not the other way around.

So we first must understand that God designed us with two different aspects: the spiritual and the physical. We know, also, that the physical is temporary, and is designed to be frail in its nature, that is, it can be hurt, cut, bruised, harmed in different ways.

But we also know that the body can heal itself. A broken bone will knit in time, an open wound will heal.

Eventually, the only thing remaining is a scar. We have this healing capacity built into us.

The spiritual part of us also follows the same design. It can be hurt. When we suffer a tremendous loss in our lives, we say our hearts are broken. We experience such grief that we cannot put it into words.

But our spiritual component also can heal itself. Spiritual healing, like physical healing, takes time. We won't forget the object of our loss but the pain usually diminishes over time. We put the pain behind us and hold onto only the good memories...remembrances of togetherness, sharing, and love. Eventually, the only thing remaining is an emotional scar where the pain used to be. The good memories can last for the rest of our lives.

Remember, too, that your mother is in a better place now. She is with God this Christmas, in a place of eternal joy and peace. She enjoys a peace and love that you and I cannot possibly imagine. She will be with God every Christmas through eternity. We must take joy in this, joy for her soul, joy for her sake.

I hope and pray that, when each of you are on the threshold of making the final transition to the fuller life, that she comes to take you by the hand and welcomes you home.

God bless you this Christmas, and all of your following Christmases. For your own sake, and for the sake of each other, keep peace and love in your hearts. In the end, there is nothing else.

Love,
Dad

Crier does not sensationalize

Dear Editor,

You may remember me from my columns (Greetings from Baghdad), that I submitted to you from Iraq during the surge in 2007 that depicted my personal experiences from a boots-on-the-ground perspective. From personal experience, I know that you were bold enough to print exactly what I submitted to you without censorship, and I believe everyone, including myself, really appreciated your newspaper for doing this. It shed a true light on the daily thoughts of one particular service member in theater.

Since my return from duty overseas, I have dedicated my life to the proper training necessary to become a social worker. My aspiration is to serve the veteran population amidst these tumultuous times. I have noticed that with most newspapers, when anything of a tragic nature occurs, they automatically try to mention that the person is a veteran, beyond any other title they may have earned in life. Almost as a way to confirm some of the publics' skewed views about those who preserve the freedom we all enjoy. The current tragic news about the Fama family is a current case in point. All the major news channels and publications include that he was a veteran in the headlines, rather than state that he was a son, brother, uncle, or a loved one.

Speaking for myself, I have heartfelt sympathy for the family and offer any support I can during these most difficult times, as I am sure others in this community willingly offer as well. Togetherness and mutual respect during difficult times is a characteristic of this town that makes it special to me and makes me proud to call it home. I want to commend you on truth in journalism, and reporting on fact and not sensationalism.

God Bless the Fama family and all those close to them during this time of hardship. They truly have a community behind them that cares and looks out for others in need.

Sincerely,
Daniel J. Sullivan

Group notes Superfund's birthday

Calls for reduced government spending and 'Polluter Pays' fees

WILMINGTON - A group of residents working to educate the public on the Olin Chemical Superfund Site celebrated Superfund's 30th birthday recently. The group called on federal policymakers today to give Superfund a gift by reducing government spending and reinstating "polluter pays" fees for the financially ailing federal toxic waste site cleanup program. One of the fees, the Corporate Environmental Income Tax, paid by companies with $2 million or more in profits, was $12 on every $10,000 in profits - a drop in the bucket for corporations.

Martha Stevenson, President of Wilmington Environmental Restoration Committee, Inc. (WERC, www.wilmingtonerc.org), made the following statement: "No community wants the stigma of being home to a Superfund site, but everyone affected wants and deserves assurance that all that can be done to clean up such sites will be done to protect human and ecological health in the future. At the Olin Chemical site we have been fortunate that some of the PRPs (Potentially Responsible Parties) were willing to fund the additional site assessment that is taking place now.

But there is no guarantee that the PRPs will agree to pay for the actual clean up, which is likely to be quite expensive in terms of both dollars and time. To assure that the remediation at our site and others across the country is done, Congress needs to continue financing Superfund, whether by general appropriation, via cost and recovery, or by reinstating the 'Polluters Must Pay' tax. The health and well being of our nation's communities are at risk if Congress fails to act."

Taryn Hallweaver, a community organizer with Toxics Action Center (www.toxicsaction.org), agreed with Stevenson. "In our experience, polluters will go to great lengths to avoid responsibility for their messes or opt for minimal cleanups to save money. It's fortunate that Olin Chemical has secured funding for the time being, but we need to fix this broken system at the federal level for good."

Lois Marie Gibbs, Executive Director of the Center for Health, Environment & Justice (CHEJ, www.chej.org), has been called the "Mother of Superfund" as her community at Love Canal in Niagara Falls, NY was, in part, the impetus for creating Superfund after 20,000 tons of chemicals were discovered buried in her neighborhood. Gibbs said, "Thirty years ago this December, President Jimmy Carter signed the law which created the Federal Superfund. It is tragic that three decades later the same crisis exists within hundreds of communities, and we have a woefully underfunded program ill-prepared to address toxic tragedies. The good news is that hundreds of sites threatening Americans have been cleaned up in the last 30 years which has revitalized communities and prevented water supplies from being contaminated by dangerous pollutants. However, the fund has been hit hard by a lack of fees collected from polluters resulting in many communities threatened by toxic sites as they await their turn on the lengthy cleanup list. Now, it is time for Congress to take the burden off taxpayers who are paying for Superfund today. This year the chemical industry is banking a 200% increase in profits (Chemical Week, 10/8/2010). We need to reduce government spending and reinstate polluter pays fees in 2011. It is time for Congress to give Superfund the much-needed gift of reliable, adequate funding for its 30th birthday to protect American communities."

Regarding EPA's plan for Iron Horse Park, Concerned Residents of Billerica stated that "Iron Horse Park continues to be a contamination problem for Billerica. It's in the best interest of our community to support SD-6 and protect our health, safety and environment. We've waited twenty years already and shouldn't have to wait twenty more."

Community and environmental organizations around the country are delivering letters today to remind federal policymakers that taxpayers should not be footing the bill to clean up abandoned toxic waste sites and to urge reinstatement of the "polluter pays" fees to replenish Superfund. Supported by President Barack Obama, three bills are pending that would reinstate the industry fees (NJ Senator Frank Lautenberg's S 3164; OR Representative Earl Blumenauer's HR 564; and NJ Representative Frank Pallone's HR 832.

As the 30th anniversary of Superfund approaches on December 11th, the once-robust toxic cleanup fund is weakest when needed most according to a recent federal report. For 15 years, the government imposed fees on companies that went into a trust fund to clean up the worst toxic sites in the country. These fees expired in 1995 and Congress did not renew them, so the fund ran out of money in 2003. Since then, the federal government has appropriated public dollars every year. But the budget is too small and this has greatly slowed the rate of site cleanups. A 2010 report by the US General Accountability Office (GAO) found the program completed clean ups at 19 sites last year, compared with 89 in 1999. GAO also found that at over 60 percent of 239 Superfund sites with "unacceptable or unknown human exposure," all or more than half of the cleanup work remains to be done due to insufficient funding. And it will only get worse. EPA estimates that costs will be up to $681 million each year through 2014, which greatly exceeds the previous annual costs of $220 to $267 million (2000 to 2009). In addition, EPA estimates that about 25 sites per year will be added to Superfund in the next 5 years, higher than the past average of 16 sites per year.

Your Two Cents...

To the vandal that slashed and deflated our Santa Claus inflatable on our front lawn - here's hoping you get what you deserve this Christmas - a big lump of coal. You should be ashamed of yourself!

Tewksbury

Wilmington "locked down" the high school today and sent all the students home early because one student was found in possession of a BB gun. Why should all the students lose out on a full day of education and be sent home due to the foolish actions of one delinquent pupil? Send that student home with a suspension or expulsion instead! Regardless of school policy, common sense and good judgment should take precedence! Safety of the students and staff of our schools is very important, but over-reacting only adds to parents concerns and short changes our students.

Neighborhood Parcel collecting donations for Lazarus House

TEWKSBURY

Neighborhood Parcel of Tewksbury continues to play a vital role in the community. A small company that specializes in international shipping and packaging to over 212 world destinations, and founded in the summer of 2007 by Hanson Bechat, the company has a growing client base overseas, but never failed nor stopped to support the local community, from sponsoring small sport teams to lending a helping hand to charity organizations such as Lazarus House, blood drive and many more.

"Helping our local community is a no-brainer, it is the right thing to do," said CEO Bechat. "Since we opened our doors, the community was and always is supportive of our 'Too Small to Fail' business model. So, we try to continue to offer them a convenient service while giving some of the proceeds backs to support community organizations: For every dollar we collect, we will match it and cut a check for the amount raised at end of month. Our goal is to raise $2,500 this year. We highly encourage our area residents to participate, as Lazarus House is in dire need of money due to the local economy."

Neighborhood Parcel LLC was founded in May of 2007. The company was founded for the sole purpose of helping the area residents and businesses understand and comply with all shipping regulations. This is in addition to providing great service and value; passing the savings to the consumer. A letter to Paris or crate to China, Neighborhood Parcel can help you get it there. They can safely package your valuable shipment, insure it and send it using the best carrier network and offer you the opportunity to pick the best shipping rate for your budget.

Lazarus House, a gospel-based ministry, first opened its doors in 1983 as a five-bed emergency shelter for the homeless. As needs continued to grow, services expanded to better serve the needs of those of the community. Lazarus House helps to prevent homelessness by providing food orders from its food pantry for those who cannot afford to pay both the rent and buy food. If that fails, they provide shelter. All guests are assigned an advocate who will assist them with a tailored plan for reconstructing their lives in a way that will allow them to be active and productive members of the community.

Today, they serve over 8,000 people a month and are witness to many miracles. The annual budget exceeds just over $2 million dollars and is funded primarily through the generosity of individuals, churches, corporations, foundations and social organizations who share their desire to provide people with a hand up, not simply a handout.

Community members and area residents can stop by the Local Neighborhood Parcel at 553 Main St Tewksbury MA 01876 to donate money as they do their shipping or simply drop off toys, clothes or canned food. Donations small or large are highly encouraged. For more information on this collection program, you can go to lazarushouse.org or call (978) 851-0199.

it seems was that the handgun was displayed. The staff had already met with the individual and resolved the incident by the time (police) arrived."

According to Begonis, the BB gun was not loaded. The investigation is ongoing and Begonis declined to say where the gun came from or why it was brought to school. The student was taken into custody and was brought to a local hospital for evaluation.

"Staff had already met with individual and resolved the incident by the time we arrived. It was a non-violent situation as far as we could see," Begonis said. "Obviously the students were scared and upset, we did our best to calm them."

Police immediately performed a K-9 search of the area. Once it was determined that the area was secured, students were evacuated class-by-class and instructed to board awaiting buses. The buses were then taken offsite to the St. Thomas Church parking lot and re-staged to bring the students home. The buses began pulling out of the church parking lot at approximately 11:00 a.m.

Walking students were allowed to walk home and students with private vehicles were permitted to use their vehicles.

"We did get a message out to parents immediately on Alert Now to let them know what was going on," Benton said. "Fortunately, we practice lockdown and evacuation situations, and that helps a lot, because students understood what a lockdown meant and to go sit in the corner of the classrooms with the lights out. Everyone did a tremendous job."

Because this was believed to be an isolated incident, all after school activities took place as scheduled and school will resume on Monday as scheduled.

Crier publisher elected MNPA president

Other officers elected to serve were Aaron Julien, publisher, Daily Hampshire Gazette - first vice-president; William B. Ketter - vice-president, of News Community Newspaper Holdings; second vice-president; Sheila Smith, publisher, Newburyport Daily News - treasurer; and George Arwady, publisher Springfield Republican - secretary.

Elected to the executive board were Christopher Mayer, publisher - Boston Globe; Patrick Purcell, publisher - Boston Herald; Bruce Gaultney, publisher - Worcester Telegram and Gazette; Rick Daniels, publisher - Gatehouse Media; and Robert Chapman, publisher - North Adams Transcript.

During the day-long event, the annual meeting was highlighted by a luncheon headlined by an address from Massachusetts Governor Deval Patrick. This was the second time the Governor met with the publishers organization. The first was in 2006 just after his first election.

MNPA was formed in 1972. Through the years the association has focused on two general areas of vital interest: matters relating to the business of publishing and editorial interests, particularly as they relate to constitutional issues.

MNPA has successfully confronted initiatives impacting newspaper publishing challenging those that would erode public access to information and personnel related to town, city and state government activities.

Besides monitoring the legislature and the courts for developments of concern to publishers and editors, MNPA serves as a resource for editors and reporters who seek guidance on public access issues.

Shawsheen Tech Football team takes Super Bowl title

'We are the Champions'

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

MILTON - Saturday was destined to be an unforgettable day in the life of Shawsheen Tech football coach Al Costabile regardless of what happened in the Division 4 Super Bowl against Blue Hills Regional of Canton at Curry College, as he knew that later that evening he would be walking his daughter Liana down the aisle on her wedding day.

But his players made sure that they day would be a once in a lifetime experience for more than just one reason for their coach, winning Shawsheen's first ever Super Bowl with a thrilling 20-6 win over the Warriors, giving both the coach and the school something they had never experienced before, a Super Bowl victory.

Shawsheen wrapped up their incredible season with a record of 11-1, while Blue Hills finished at 10-2.

Costabile, who had been on the losing end of his two previous Super Bowl appearances, with Bishop Fenwick in 1995 and 1996 was happy to be on the winning end of the title game.

"I've been on the losing end twice in Super Bowls," Costabile said. "And this is a great feeling. I've never felt it before. It's fantastic. Just holding this trophy is good stuff."

Add that to one of the most memorable days in any father's life, and it was indeed a special day for the coach, in his 13th season at Shawsheen.

"This has to be one of the greatest days of my life," Costabile said. "I'm very fortunate. It really is a tremendous day."

The Rams made it even more tremendous by coming up big in the game's biggest moments, scoring 14 fourth quarter points to earn the victory. Playing the entire second half without starting quarterback Ryan Woolaver of Tewksbury after he went out with a leg injury on the final play of the first half, the Rams did not bow to the pres-

The Shawsheen Tech Football team won its first ever Super Bowl title on Saturday morning, defeating Blue Hills Regional, 20-6, at Curry College in Milton. After the game was over, head coach Al Costabile lined up with many of his players, including starting quarterback Derek Woolaver who got injured during the game, to receive the championship trophy. sure, but instead rose to the occasion under the direction of backup quarterback Tyler MacInnis.

With the score tied 6-6, Wilmington's Steve Reynolds scored what proved to be the game winning touchdown on a 25 yard run with 4:57 left in the game.

Reynolds, who also had a pair of fourth quarter interceptions to seal the victory, found a seam on the outside and raced down the right sideline, following a great downfield block from Devin Conneaney on his way to the end zone and a 13-6 lead after Devonn Pratt's extra point kick.

"I got a great block from Devin to spring me and I just followed him to the end zone,"

Reynolds said. "The line blocked great too. I was just happy at that point to make a play to help the team."

Conneaney not only contributed to the game winning touchdown with a great block for Reynolds, but he had started the entire sequence that led to the score with a terrific 35 yard punt out of bounds that pinned Blue Hills at their eight yard line.

"He's a tremendous punter," Costabile said. "He's the best punter in our league. I don't know if there is a better high school punter. That punt was huge. It pinned them down inside the 10. It set everything up. It changed field position. Until then they had been operating in our end."

Three running plays netted a loss of seven yards for Blue Hills and they were forced to punt from their one yard line. A fair catch on the Warriors punt allowed the Rams to start their possession on the Blue Hills 28 yard line, and after a three yard gain by Andrew Dascoli (17 carries, 101 yards) on first down, Reynolds (4 carries, 47 yards) scored on the next play.

It looked for a moment like Blue Hills was going to come right back with a score of their own. On their first play from scrimmage on their next series, Warriors quarterback John Curran hit a wide open receiver in stride at about midfield with nothing but open field in front of him, but the receiver dropped the ball and Shawsheen maintained their lead.

Given a new life, the Rams made sure they took advantage of it. Two plays later, Shawsheen junior Matt Costello of Wilmington picked off a Curran pass in the backfield and raced 35 yards untouched into the end zone for a 20-6 lead with 3:54 left in the game.

Costello had beaten his blocker and had a clear path to Curran when the quarterback tried to throw the ball away, but instead threw it right into Costello's arms.

"I looked up and saw the ball right in my face and just picked it off," Costello said. "I got some great blocks from my teammates. I could see the end zone and I just thought to myself I have to get there."

The Shawsheen defense, which saw their shutout streak of four consecutive games come to an end with Blue Hills third quarter touchdown, took their game to another level once they were playing with a lead.

On Blue Hills next possession Wilmington's Devin Summiel and Drew Barnard combined to drop Warriors running back Isaiah Teixeira for a three yard loss on first down and on second down Reynolds all but sealed the win with a spectacular leaping one handed interception, giving the ball back to the Rams with 2:59 left.

A few moments later, on Blue Hills next possession, Reynolds did officially seal the deal with an interception and the Rams were champs for the first time in school history.

While players like Reynolds and Costello made some of the biggest plays of the game, one of the things Costello was most proud of was that so many players on both sides of the ball contributed to the victory.

"We don't have a superstar," Costabile said. "We have a group of young men who give it their all. There are no MVPs. They're all MVPs."

Shawsheen had taken a 6-0 lead with 1:28 left in the first half on a brilliant 30 yard run by Woolaver who broke tackles and powered his way into the end zone, taking a vicious hit just as he crossed the goal line. Woolaver stayed in the game, however, before he was knocked out a short time later on the last play of the half.

Blue Hills had tied the score at 6-6 with 55 seconds left in the third quarter when Teixeira capped a 15 play, 78 yard drive with a two yard scoring run. The two point conversion failed however, when Dascoli dropped Teixeira for a loss.

Turn inside this section for much more on the Rams Super Bowl Championship.

Head coach Al Costabile was all smiles as he team surrounded him at midfield in celebration of the Rams' Super Bowl title on Saturday.

Wilmington resident has big interception

Costello seals the deal for victory

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

MILTON — With just over four minutes left in Saturday's Division 4 Super Bowl against Blue Hills, Shawsheen Tech was clinging to a 13-6 lead, and had just seen the Warriors barely miss on connecting with what have been a game tying touchdown pass. Needless to say, the lead was anything but safe.

That's when defensive back Matt Costello stepped in and gave the Rams the breathing room they were looking for. On a third-and-10 play, Blue Hills quarterback John Curran dropped back to pass, but before he even had a chance to look for a receiver, Costello a junior from Wilmington was in the backfield pursuing him.

Curran, in an attempt to avoid the sack, tried to throw the ball away, but instead Costello stepped in front of the pass and raced untouched into the end zone to give the Rams a 20-6 lead with 3:48 left and the Rams would go on to win by that same score.

Costello was not planning on making one of the biggest plays of the game when he began to pursue Curran, but he was thrilled with the way play worked out.

"I was just trying to do what coach talked to me about and get some pressure on the quarterback," Costello said. "I was so surprised. I was shocked to find the ball in my hands, and then I had great blocks in front of me all the way to the end zone."

Perhaps it should not have been so shocking that Costello came up with a big play for the Rams when they needed him most, as he had seemed to make a habit of making such plays throughout the year.

He had come up with punt blocks for the Rams in key late season games against CAC rivals Greater Lawrence and Manchester Essex and had nearly come up with a block earlier in the game against Blue Hills.

Shawsheen coach Al Costabile knows it was no mistake that Costello was in position to make a big play.

"Matt is the type of guy who always puts himself in the right place," Costabile said. "It's the reason that he has come up with those blocked punts. He has a knack for being around the ball and he makes things happen."

And while Costello has had a knack for making big plays both in the regular season and in the Super Bowl, it has not just been a few isolated plays where he has made his mark. He earned his way into the starting lineup this season and he was a key contributor for the Rams all season long.

"Matt improved as the season went on, and he was a big part of our success," Costabile said. "He came in and did a great job for us as a 'monster' back. Because he did such a great job it allowed us to get (starting quarterback) Ryan Woolaver off the field on defense, which was big for us. He was an absolute pleasure to coach."

And Costello will be a pleasure for Costabile to coach once again next year.

"Matt always has a positive attitude," Costabile

Wilmington resident Matt Costello returned an interception for a touchdown which sealed the victory for the Rams.

said. "He will be a leader for our program as a senior next year."

Costello, while relishing the Super Bowl title was already looking forward next season in the aftermath of Saturday's win.

"This feels awesome. It's the best feeling in the world to be apart of this," Costello said. "I can't wait to go get it again next year. We all want to come back and get it."

Shawsheen Tech Football Team Notebook

Reynolds comes up big once again

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

MILTON - If there were an MVP of the playoffs for Shawsheen Tech it just may have been Wilmington's Steve Reynolds. The junior running back/defensive back ran for 47 yards and the game-winning fourth quarter touchdown in the Super Bowl win over Blue Hills, following up a 103 yard, one touchdown effort in the playoff win over Madison Park last week.

He was also outstanding defensively, recovering a fumble against Madison Park and picking off two passes against Blue Hills. The first of the picks against Blue Hills was a thing of beauty, a one handed leaping grab late in the fourth quarter that helped protect what at the time was a 13-6 Shawsheen lead. The second pick came with just under three minutes to go to seal the win.

"He's made some outrageous interceptions," Shawsheen coach Al Costabile said. "He's just a great, great athlete. He really came up big today."

Reynolds, always a little reluctant to talk about himself, was modest when talking about his Randy Moss like grab.

"I was just staying with my man and playing good defense," Reynolds said. "And then you just want to jump higher than the other guy."

Of course the play he will be remembered for most is his 25 yard touchdown run with 4:57 left in the game to give the Rams the lead and ultimately the victory. It is a play that will live in Rams history, and Reynolds was quick to credit his teammates, particularly lead blocker Devin Conneaney, for making it possible.

"I got a great block from Devin to spring me and I just followed him to the end zone,"

Reynolds said. "The line blocked great too. I was just happy at that point to make a play to help the team."

No doubt the Rams were quite happy to have Reynolds on their side during the playoffs, and will be equally thrilled to have him back next year as well.

A walk down the aisle

Costabile had some very big plans after the game as well, with his daughter Liana's wedding planned for 5:30 that evening. It made for quite the busy day for the Rams head coach, as he first headed back to Billerica with his team in possession of the Super Bowl trophy, and then headed home to Belmont for the biggest day of his daughter's life.

"This has to be one of the greatest days of my life," Costabile said. "I'm very fortunate. It really is a tremendous day."

Costabile knew going in that it would make for a long day, but he certainly was not complaining. When Liana was trying to plan a December wedding, December 4 was the only day available. While both Costabile and Liana knew it was a playoff weekend, the father of the bride was not about to let that get in the way.

"Oh, I knew right away it was a playoff weekend," Costabile had told the Boston Herald in the days leading up to the Super Bowl. "But I told her not to worry, that I would be ready. She's a football coach's daughter, so she knows I would be prepared."

Down but not forgotten

When senior starting quarterback Ryan Woolaver of Tewksbury was knocked out of the game on the final play of the first half, it could have been a huge blow for the Rams. And on backup Tyler

MacInnis first series, it seemed like it was when he threw an interception to Blue Hills that led to a touchdown.

But the junior signal caller from Wilmington settled down and did a fine job the rest of the way for the Rams, leading them to a touchdown on their next drive and most importantly, leading them to victory. Costabile was impressed with the composure MacInnis showed in a tough situation.

"It's a huge thing switching quarterbacks," said Costabile. "Tyler coming in and being a steady influence and doing the job was so important. He managed the game very well."

After the game Costabile acknowledged what Woolaver had meant to the Rams all season long, presenting him with a game ball, much to the delight of his teammates who gave Woolaver a rousing ovation. "We're all about team," Costabile said. "I normally don't give out game balls, but Ryan deserves it. He has been a great leader for us all season long."

Rams notables

Saturday's win was the first ever MIAA Super Bowl win for Shawsheen Tech, with their only previous appearance in the Super Bowl coming in 1978 in a 34-0 loss to Concord-Carlisle.

Since that Super Bowl loss, the Rams had made three other post season appearances, all in State Vocational Super Bowls, losing in 2004 and winning in 2007 and 2008.

This was Costabile's third MIAA Super Bowl appearance as a head coach, losing in his previous two attempts while coaching Bishop Fenwick in 1995 and 1996.

Over their last seven games, including the two playoff games the Rams outscored their opponents 216-18. This stretch included five consecutive shutouts. Shawsheen allowed a touchdown to Lynn Tech in the third quarter of 41-6 win on October 30, and did not allow another point until the third quarter in Saturday's Super Bowl.

While the Rams will lose some key seniors off of this year's squad, including Woolaver, wide receiver Robert Greenwood of Tewksbury, Conneaney, Anthony DePiano of Wilmington, defensive tackle Zach Teal, nose tackle David Summiel of Tewksbury and tight end Derek Bent, they will bring back a strong core of players when they try to repeat as champions.

The running back tandem of Reynolds and Andrew Dascoli (1,384 yards and 11 touchdowns) will both return to lead the offense, as will key defenders such as linebacker Nicholas Federico, and defensive end Devin Summiel of Tewksbury among others.

"There is a nice core coming back," Costabile said. "Our junior class is very solid as evidenced by our undefeated JV team this year and then to look down and see our freshman team also go 10-0 makes me feel pretty good. I am very honored and proud to be the coach of this team."

Papageorgiou completes another stellar season for Franklin Pierce

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Vinny Papageorgiou and the No. 1 Franklin Pierce men's soccer team suffered a heart-breaking 1-0 loss to Dowling at the Division II quarterfinals last weekend and saw their season come to a sudden end.

The Ravens came into the game riding a 17-game undefeated streak, which began all the way back on Sept. 7. They won the Northeast-10 Conference regular season and tournament championships.

Papageorgiou, a junior goalkeeper from Wilmington, had five saves in the loss.

Despite the tough loss, Papageorgiou has plenty to be proud about for his season. He concluded his season with a 17-2-2 record. He was named to the 2010 Daktronics All-East team last month and had a 0.53 goals against average with 11 shutouts.

Last week he was also named a third-team All-American. Head coach Craig Stewart said his goalie was a rock the entire season.

"He is technically sound, an excellent shot stopper and has developed into a great leader and teammate," he said.

Those attributes were seen in the Ravens most exciting game of the season, which occurred in the NCAA Quarterfinals. The team had played Southern New Hampshire University to a 1-1 tie through regulation and two overtimes. So, the two schools went to a penalty shootout.

Papageorgiou was a monster in the shootout, making two saves to preserve a victory. He made six saves in the game as well.

He said there was no added pressure despite the high stakes.

"I've been through shootouts before," he said. "I just took it as every other one. I felt confident. I just went in there, had a little luck and made a few saves. I knew my teammates would back me up and score."

The Wilmington High graduate began playing soccer at a young age, and was a Boston Globe and Boston Herald all-scholastic in high school. He also was a team captain for two years. He said he knew when he was a Wildcat he wanted to play the game at the next level.

Franklin Pierce, a small, private university in rural New Hampshire, has a rich soccer history that Papageorgiou was attracted to.

"The school and soccer (sold me)," he said. "I wanted to go a smaller school. I didn't want to go to a bigger school. Their soccer program is really good and the academics are good."

He began playing almost immediately, starting in 18 of 19 matches his freshman year. By the fifth game of the year he was the team's full-time starter. He was named Northeast-10 "Goalkeeper of the Week" once and NE-10 Freshman of the Week four times.

"I've made improvements," he said. "Going into freshman year it was a lot harder because coming here and starting (immediately) was a big thing. I just did what I did to work on improving and here I am."

Stewart has also seen major improvements since Papageorgiou was a freshman.

"His work in the offseason has put himself on another level as an athlete and as a college soccer goalkeeper," he said.

Goalkeeping isn't simply about making saves and stopping shots. There is a lot of strategy involved, and Papageorgiou says that's one of his strengths.

"I'm good at communicating and organizing," he said. "I'm good at getting everything set up in front of me so when they're attacking I make sure everyone is marking up men."

His coach, however, said that his save-making ability is still a major strength of his game.

"Shot-stopping, making game winning saves, including an uncanny knack to make PK saves, are probably his biggest strengths," said Stewart. "His weaknesses in the past were his levels of concentration, but he has done a very good job of staying connected in games, communicating and organizing those in front of him."

"He is a great student of the game, watching games, learning, looking to improve and this has helped him improve these areas."

Having a consistent presence in goal is reassuring for both Stewart and his players. He says it's not a shock that Papageorgiou has been able to play so many games in his career.

"Vinny does everything right off the field and that includes his rest, diet and rehab," he said. "His commitment to preparation is a major reason he is able to play so many games throughout the rigors of a college season."

Although the heartbreak from this season is still fresh, Stewart expects his goalie to have a strong senior campaign next year.

"He has one more year of college soccer and I know he will want to end his career here at Franklin Pierce in the best form possible," he said. "From there it is up to him, the way he has improved and matured every year would not make it out of the question for him to continue playing at the next level."

Papageorgiou also says he plans on continuing to play the game he loves after he graduates.

"If I can play soccer that's definitely a possibility," he said. "I'm going to try to get a job in the sports and recreation field. But (I'm) trying to play soccer definitely."

Macy, UML, Division 2 National Champions

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Three days after she completed her dream season for the UMass Lowell field hockey team, Sammy Macy still can't believe that dream is a reality.

The senior captain from Tewksbury helped lead the River Hawks to a 1-0 victory over Shippensburg in the NCAA Division II Championship at the University of Louisville on Saturday.

The win capped a historic year for UMass Lowell, as they finished undefeated at 24-0 and also won the Northeast-10 regular season and tournament championships.

The national championship was the first for Macy and was especially sweet as she had made it to the national championship game the last three years, losing each time. "It's the best thing in the world," she said. "I can't even describe it. It's definitely the best feeling I've ever had in my entire life. Coming that close for three years was just such a letdown and from that game you lose at the end of the year you're just focusing on the following year."

"This was our last chance for our senior class. There's no better feeling than going out with a bang like this. I can't even describe it."

Macy assisted on the only goal of the game in the 22nd minute. She was one of three River Hawks named to the NCAA All-Tournament team after the game.

The defense was the reason why this team left Louisville as champions, said Macy.

"Our defense has helped us incredibly all season," she said. "To go up against them in practice made us 10 times better. Our coach said that the reserves on our bench are the second best team we've faced."

Head coach Shannon Hlebichuk, who won her second national championship, said this one is especially special.

"Having won a national championship (before) it's something we wanted to do again," she said. "But I never thought we would combine it with an undefeated season. That is the pinnacle of a career."

She said that this year's squad isn't one that comes around often.

"We just had that perfect team," she said. "All cylinders clicked all year long. We had the offense, defense and the goalkeeping. And we had amazing team chemistry on and off the field. These players were so competitive and pushed each other every day."

"We all had the same goal in mind, regardless of whether you were a starter or not. They all wanted to win a national championship. To get there you had to win games so they focused on that one game at a time mentality. And before you knew it we were 23-0 and playing for that national championship."

"Coming into the season obviously our goal was to get back (to the national championship)," said Macy. "Just like every year. I definitely didn't dream of being 24-0. It's an unbelievable feeling."

Macy was a major reason why her team was in the position to go undefeated and compete for a national championship. Her list of accolades in her career is starting. She was defending NE-10 Player of the Year and two-time NFHCA All-American. She has broken nearly every offensive record in program history, including goals (84), career points (203) and points in a single game (11).

She was also named to the 2009 NCAA Championship All-Tournament Team and to the NFHCA All-Academic Squad in 2007.

Hlebichuk was effusive in her praise of the former Tewksbury High graduate.

Tewksbury resident Sammy Macy, shown to the left of the trophy, and the rest of the UMass-Lowell Field Hockey team celebrated as the Division 2 National Champions after defeating Shippensburg University 1-0 in Louisville this past Saturday. (courtesy photo David Gillies/UML)

"She was unbelievable," she said. "She will go down in UMass Lowell field hockey history as our best goal scorer. She's a multi-dimensional player. Not only could she shoot and score but she could also create so many goals and so many opportunities for us. Truthfully, at the end of the season we needed her to step up a little bit in the midfield and play a little more defense. She stepped up and did that."

"I'm going to say she was not only one of the best players to come through UMass Lowell. She was one of the best Division II players (ever)."

Macy's value to her team was evident off the field as well. As one of the team's captains, Macy took her responsibilities seriously.

"I think (leadership) just comes with experience," she said. "The last three years I had great leadership on the team. I had people to look up to. This was my year to kind of be that leader. I just balanced it with wanting to win and everyone just looked at us as three captains as examples. In the back of my head I always put the team first on and off the field."

Hlebichuk said one of Macy's greatest attributes was making her teammates better.

"She was a vocal leader," she said. "She was a leader on the field. She had high expectations of herself and those around her. And she was so dominant that it not only made the competitors rise but also our practice players. They loved playing against her because she brought out the best in them."

Macy, a standout player in high school, produced in college from the start. However, she said the transition from Tewksbury High to UMass Lowell wasn't as easy as it looked.

"It's such a different game from high school," she said. "The competitiveness, the skills, everything is different. Everything is 10 steps up from high school. I had the best coaching staff and the best players to play against everyday at practice."

"She got better ever year. She came in so good that you didn't know that she would be able to improve," Hlebichuk said. "And she did not only because of her skill set. But because she worked off the field. She really committed herself to training in the weight room and on the track and on the treadmill. I think that made the biggest difference with her as a player this year."

Hlebichuk knows that players like Macy don't come around often, and that it's going to be very difficult for her to replace her next year.

"I knew she was special when she committed to us," she said. "I didn't realize how dominant she would be. She's probably a once in I guess my coaching career type of player. I don't know if I'll ever get a player of her caliber or her dominance. I hope we grow players like her. But right off the bat her dominance from her freshman year to her senior year is unbelievable."

Macy will get to savor this victory for awhile, as the school is holding a pep rally on Friday to celebrate the national champions. But she is sad that she has only one semester left, and the real world is right around the corner.

"I'll just be happy to get a job I guess," she said. "I'm not looking forward to it but I wish I could play field hockey forever."

Football recruiting night a big hit in Tewksbury

By CHRIS RICCIARDI
Sports Correspondent

TEWKSBURY — The Tewksbury Country Club ballroom was filled with football talent on Tuesday night as local gridiron players met with college coaches during the 23rd annual Eastern Massachusetts and Southern New Hampshire College Football Recruiting Night.

The event, which allows football players to talk with mainly Division Two and Division Three Coaches, was co-run by Tewksbury High athletic director Brian Hickey and Wilmington High athletic director Ed Harrison.

"Mr. Harrison and Mr. (Bob) Aylward (the former TMHS athletic director) started this 23 years ago as a way to introduce kids to prospective colleges," Hickey said. "(Student-athletes) are able to meet college coaches and talk about things like admission standards."

The event was free, which Hickey said was important so that all of the players in the area had a chance to participate.

There were several local athletes that attended the event, mostly from the Wilmington and Tewksbury area. However, you could also find athletes from places such as Boston and Lynn.

"Coaches help you decide where you'll fit in better," Tewksbury senior Danny Sughrue said. "It feels better because you know the coach. I'm planning on playing football — maybe some track (too) if football allows it."

"(You're able to) throw your name out," Tewksbury junior Kevin Saunders said. "It helps you get noticed."

Saunders said that he is looking at UMass Dartmouth and Framingham State as potential colleges. He also said that he would like to focus on baseball in college.

There were numerous tables set up through the ballroom. Some football teams displayed their helmet while others were showing video clips of their team on laptops. Coaches handed out index cards to players, and the event was designed seemingly like a college fair.

"It gives me a chance to talk to coaches," said Wilmington senior Brian Hurley, who was a captain on this year's football team. "You talk about your academics and things like that. I'm looking at Holy Cross, (the University of New Hampshire), and UMass Amherst. I'm definitely focused on football."

"It gives you a wide open area to look at colleges," Wilmington senior Kevin Moriarty said. "It was this hectic last year. You get a chance to talk to coaches, which is awesome."

"You get a lot of coaches' numbers," Tewksbury senior Sean McCarthy said. "You see what schools interest you or catch your eye. It's really helpful. I'm looking around football wise, but I'm probably going to end up playing baseball in southern New Hampshire."

"It helps schools find out who you are," Wilmington senior Sean Hanley said. "I'm looking at Plymouth State, Assumption, Curry, those type of schools. I've learned that there are a lot of options out there and that it just isn't sports. It's also about education."

"You get to see what the colleges offer," Wilmington junior John Parsons said. "You get to meet the coaches, which is a big thing since you don't want to play for someone that you don't like, per say. It gives you a chance to get your name out, so it'll give you a better chance of going to (your top) school."

Two Shawsheen Tech football players also appeared at the recruiting night.

"It lets the coaches know where we're at," Shawsheen Tech senior David Summiel said. "It lets them know what our majors are and what our plans are. The schools have a lot to offer, and they're great schools. I'm looking at prep schools right now."

"Getting a feel for all of these colleges is a great thing," Shawsheen Tech senior Derek Bent said. "You get a feel of which colleges you want to go to."

As handshakes were exchanged and brochures handed out, a new group of New England high school football players came a little closer towards their college decision at College Football Recruiting Night.

Kevin Murphy of Wilmington, just completed his senior season as a captain of the Arlington Catholic varsity football team. Murphy, a linebacker and offensive lineman, was named a Catholic Central League All-Star. He recently was awarded the AC Post Gobbler Scholarship Award. (courtesy photo).

Six Wildcat players named all-conference selections

Recently the Cape Ann League announced its all-conference and all-star teams, and Sean Hanley (quarterback), Kevin Moriarty (running back), Chris Frissore (wide receiver), Brian Hurley (tight end), Gordie

Fitch (defensive lineman) and John Parsons (linebacker) were all named All-Conference selections. James Perry, Alex Furlong and Matt Ferreira were named to the honorable mention squad.

After a successful Thanksgiving tournament, the Wilmington Youth Hockey Association Mite 2 team returned to Valley League action Saturday morning in Tewksbury, matched against the Malden Mites.

The Wildcats had Alex Fitchler in goal, and a full set of defensemen, starting with Robbie Courtney and David Bazile, backed up by Brendan Ardito, Anthony Bowker, and Harry Serounian. Malden scored first, seven minutes in, but the Wilmington defense got right back to even when David Bazile took advantage of some open ice created by quick passing from Robbie Courtney and Joseph Hartzell.

The starting forward line of center Maura Fiorenza, with left wing Max Churchill and right wing A.J. Lavigne were denied several times by Malden's goalie making outstanding saves, particularly on Lavigne's shot from the slot. The third line of Joseph Hartzell centering Nathan Alberti and Aiden Elkins was also effective in retrieving pucks from the boards and looking for rebounds at the net.

Tied at one after one, the blue and white took the lead in the second period when Matt Vinal scored his first of the season with a sharp wrist shot. Wilmington extended the lead to 3-1 when C.J. Petrie was in position by the post to tap in a rebound from Robbie Courtney's hard shot. Malden drew back to within one with a late goal, but before the clock ran out on the middle frame, C.J. Petrie converted again with an assist from Matt Ardito to build the lead back to two.

Finally, in the first minute of the third period, the starting forward line was rewarded for their solid play. Max Churchill had been digging pucks out of the corner for the entire game, and Maura Fiorenza corralled a rebound to slip in the Wildcat's fifth goal. Malden wasn't going to quit however, and with three minutes remaining tallied their third goal, followed a minute later by their fourth. Wilmington clamped down on the comeback and held on for the 5-4 win.

Mite 1's

In their return to the regular season action, the Wilmington Mite 1 youth hockey team put on a show Saturday against the top seed in the Division. Down two players, the Wildcats rallied to go up 2-0 early in the first period.

During the opening shift, a determined, net-crashing Zach Kincaid would light the lamp first for the blue shirts. Just seconds later, Cameron Banks intercepted a pass in the defensive zone and headed up the ice on an exciting breakaway for his first tally of the season and a 2-0 Wilmington lead.

The forwards did a much better job finding open ice. Will Lawson and Kyle Collins skated aggressively and had a number of scoring opportunities. Nolan Vigeant, Garrett Alberti and Matt Miller were fantastic along the boards and were outstanding getting the puck into the offensive zone.

The defense did a great job of clearing the Waltham forwards from the front of the net. Matt Pendenza and Justin Crowley took control by taking the puck up ice. Felicia Zuccola stood tall on the blue line, keeping the puck in the zone and preventing the Waltham forwards from breaking out. Chris Bernazani showed real speed and authority playing both offense and defense.

Impressive passing skills and size allowed Waltham to even up the score and eventually take the lead in the 3rd period. Gold Glove candidate, Sam Cedrone, was quick with the mitt, making fantastic glove saves and covering all rebounds to keep the Wildcats close.

Late in the third, a speedy Riley Fitzgerald would break through the Waltham defense to tie the score at 3-3. Waltham would take the lead in the waning moments of the third. Wilmington pulled Cedrone for the extra attacker and had multiple shots on net, but ran out of time and fell 4-3.

Vitale has monster week on the court

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington's Ashley Vitale was named The Commonwealth Coast Conference Co-Player of the Week for her efforts on the Endicott women's basketball team.

Vitale, a senior forward who's also a team captain, led the Gulls to a 2-1 record last week against non-conference opponents. She earned back-to-back 20 point games, shooting over 70 percent in both.

She averaged 17.5 points, 8.0 rebounds, 2.2 assists, 2.0 steals, and 1.6 blocks per game. In an 81-61 win over Suffolk University, she scored 20 points on 9-of-13 shooting. Later in the week she had 26 points in a tough loss to Emmanuel. She is second on the team in points (14.9) and rebounds (7.0) per game.

Vitale returns to the floor this week when she and the Gulls take on Keene State.

Freshman Amy Fahey tallied 11 points for the Fitchburg State women's basketball team to help lead them to a 67-57 win over Eastern Nazarene on Saturday. Fahey scored those 11 points on 5-of-11 shooting.

She also had two rebounds and an assist in the victory. For the season, Fahey is averaging 9.1 points a game

Tewksbury travel hoop results

Tewksbury 6B Girls

Wakefield 28, Tewksbury 13 Saturday the team traveled to Wakefield to take on the Junior Warriors. There seemed to be a cap on the rim for both teams for much of the first half and the Redmen were lucky to go into halftime only down by nine points.

With an uphill battle to climb once again Tewksbury came out with a full court press to try and score a few quick buckets. Madison Wescott led the way with eight points, nine rebounds, and one blocked shot.

The tandem of Shaylee Puleo and Samantha

Surowiec (2 pts, 4 rebounds, 1 steal) worked the ball into Wescott and Shannon Vasas. Paige McGaffigan (2 rebounds) and Nicole Cobuccio had their hands full breaking the Warriors full court press while Samantha Alman (3 pts, 6 rebounds), Nicole Lucia, Natalie Veloz, and Elizabeth Markwarth worked hard on the boards.

The Redmen defense, led by Sara Larsen who stepped up to take a hard offense foul, made the game exciting and the Warriors a little nervous but they were never able to overcome their slow start. Wakefield kept the pressure on and worked the ball inside to their well positioned front court that did most of the damage.

Tewksbury 23, Fidelity House 19

The team was back home on Sunday against the unknown Fidelity House from Arlington and the Redmen brought their tenacious defense home with them from Wakefield and got off to a great start. Wescott once again led the way with 12 points and nine rebounds.

The Redmen hit the boards hard all game only allowing

Jazz overtake Sonics in Tewksbury Youth Girls Hoop

Senior Division Jazz 32, Sonics 21

The Jazz beat the Sonics, 32 to 21, in a game that featured a balanced scoring attack. Eight different players scored for the Jazz. Although not scoring, Dimple Ghandi and Rebecca Keough played tough defense against the Sonics' guards. The first unit for the Jazz jumped out to an early lead and never looked back. Scoring early and often were Danielle Cacciola (6 pts), Hillary Fletcher (4 pts), Alysa DeFruscia (3 pts), Sam LoPolito (2 pts), and Hannah Benning (2 pts). Jessica Vitale played tough interior defense and chipped in with (4 pts). Sara Semenza (6 pts) and Shannon Semenza (2 pts), rounded out the scoring. Danielle Cacciola was named defensive player of the game for the Jazz.

The Sonics saw another uphill battle against the potent Jazz. Staring down a 10-point lead in the first quarter the Sonics buckled down and kept the Jazz to 22 points in the next three quarters while putting 21 points on the board. Shannon Smith led the way with eight points.

The rest of Sonics scoring came from Toni Joy with five, Mariah Wentzell scoring four, while Erica Dirk and Alexis Chaet each scored two points. he defensive players were Marissa Conlin and Kenzie Wyatt with help from Monica Aronson.

Magic 32, Blazers 23

The Magic were led in scoring by Meghan Blaisdell (11 pts) and Shanell Nardone (10 pts). They also received some tough fought baskets from Nichole Hamel (7 pts). The defense was outstanding as all of the Blazers points seem to come from long outside shots. Olivia Gallella (2 pts) was a monster on defense with a number of blocked shots and bid rebounds and Kertrina Nardone was all over the Blazers dribblers. Michelle Creedon (2 pts) chipped in with a big basket and Eva Barinelli seemed to run down every loose ball. Rachel Eatherton, Alexsay Zemetres and Samantha Teague also were big in limiting the Blazers scoring opportunities.

Scoring for the Blazers were Ally Braciska (8pts) Ariana Calouro (4 pts), Bridget Casey (4 pts), Ashley Kelly (4 pts.) Caleigh Finneral (2 pts.) and Amanda Lane (1 pt.)

Pacers 33, Spurs 25
The Pacers jumped out to an early lead led by the fast break scoring of Amanda Brown (15 pts) and the tough defense of Mackenzie Pierce (4 pts). In the second quarter however things were different; the Spurs came out flying and outplayed the Pacers to take a one-point lead into the half. Fortunately in the 2nd half the Pacers did not quit, outscoring and outthrusting the Spurs to go up by as many as 15 points and coming away with a hard earned 33-25 victory.

Other scorers for the Pacers were Haley Acconcia, Danielle Newhall and Carlye Slavin each with four points. Lindsey Cossar who had a great all around game rounded out the scoring with 2pts. Although they didn't score the hard work of Colleen Kelly, Rachel Kelleher, Jenn Maddaleni and Paige Walker was instrumental in sealing the victory.

For the Spurs, Kelsie Bradley and June Garcia provide a spark to the defense, while Jamie Ray, Haley Golini, Loren Sullivan and Jamie Fowler lead the offensive attack. Ashley Colbert, Devlin Frost, Leanne Lozowski and Jamie Cohen had several great assists and were tough on the offensive and defensive boards all game. Leading scorer for the Spurs was Jamie Ray with eight points. June Garcia was named defensive player of the game.

In the first half and were to build a six-point lead in the second quarter behind scoring from four different players including the first points of the season by Laurens Crupi and McIntyre.

Defensive players of the game were Lauren McIntyre playing center for the first time and Janine Richardson who continue to improve on the defensive side every week. Scoring for the Lynx were Lily Wyatt, Carolyn Versackas, and Emily Woods with four each, and both Laurens with two each. Carolyn and Lily also chipped in with 6 rebounds each and every player on the team had at least one rebound. Emily had three steals.

As for the Storm, Jessica Cacciola was a defensive powerhouse with double digit steals and constant pressure, while she also chipped in with eight points. Brigh Cote continues to be the heart of the storm, defending, pushing the ball, and making the right passes. Stephanie Lemus and Samantha Salvaggio continue to support their point guards and come up with timely steals. Devyn Veits had a monster game on the boards, including a great put back shot and scoring the Storms first free throw of the season. This was a great game for Ashley Turri as she continues to evolve into a future dominant center. She had several great rebounds, bothered several shots, and really took advantage of her height. Megan Graczyk once again scored a key basket. Her ability to score should be magnified in future weeks as she continues to gain confidence in her shot.

Although early in the season, Stephanie Cunningham has come a long way. Her efforts in practice are really being demonstrated in the games as she is becoming a force in the low post. Christine Santos continues to be the Storms low post rock. She has constantly found herself defending the other teams' largest players and doesn't give an inch. She again pulled in several key rebounds and pressured the Lynx all over the court. Special thanks again to Stephanie Graffeo who despite a broken arm was on our sidelines inspiring the Storm.

Comets 26, Sparks 9

Bridget Burgoyne and Rachel Conway got in the middle of some strong passes by the Sparks and deflected them away. They also hustled with quick feet on defense. Madison Bugley was posting real strong up high and kept good pressure on the ball. Leanne Durham (2) got her first hoop of the season when she continued getting her own rebound and it finally sank for her! Erin Gallella (4) and Felicia Ragucci both played a solid game pushing the ball through a strong defense and had some great attempts at the net. Lizzie Gallella (4) and Allison Couillard (2) had a few fast breaks during the game and both girls were tough on defense.

Michaela Svendsen (10) was the high scorer and was able to grab some tough rebounds under the net. Caitlin Panessiti (2) made some fast cuts across the key and was able to get her hands on the ball for a hoop. Emily Langone (2) was a strong force on both ends of the court, grabbing some rebounds and had many attempts on net. Scoring for the Sparks were Emily Zuraski (6 points), Allison Pelligrino (2 pts.) and Clarissa Chisholm (1 pt.)

Monarchs 8, Starzz 2
For the Starzz, Jordyn Cavicchi scored her first basket of the year. The defensive player of the game was Meghan Welch. Scoring for the Monarchs were Haley Mignon, Sarah Ciampa, Emma Crawson and Sydney Quinn, all with two points apiece.

Mystics 14, Rockers 10
Michelle Maciel once again led the scoring for the Mystics with another dominant performance scoring a game high eight points, followed by Sam Lalonde with four points. Lalonde played another great game contributing to this win in so many different ways. Young gun Isabella DeRoche (2 pts), had another outstanding game and just brings an enormous amount of energy to this team. Rebecca Smith is working very hard to become one of the great point guards in this league and her hard work is starting to show during the game. Sam Nugent really set the tone for Mystics under the basket fighting and grabbing rebounds. Shannon Farias made the pass of the game with an incredible quick feed down low to an open teammate heading to the basket for two easy points.

Scoring for the Rockers were Jocelyn Stavros (6 pts), Sarah Constantino (2 pts.) and Sarah Bishop (2 pts.).

Intermediate Division

Terriers 13, Wolverines 11
The Terriers broke out of a two game scoring slump with a well balanced offensive attack led by the guards Ashley Colarusso, Kendyl Spinelli and Melanie Fleury. The defense controlled the boards and continued to play as well as they have all season. The defense was led by Alexis Brinklow (8 rebounds), Michelle Tenaglia (4 steals), Rachel Kelly, Irene Houde, Meagan Timmins, Mikayla Dolan, Felicia St.Cyr and Carla Tenaglia.

High Scorers for the Wolverines were Erin Henry with six points, Nora Butler with four points, and Katie Garcia with one point. Defensive players were Miranda Hulme, Rebecca Lewis, Amanda McKinnis and Rachael Langone.

Jayhawks 23, Cardinals 20
The Jayhawks worked extremely hard, however, and pulled together for a great team win - Chelsey Pellegrino, Andrea Doran, Kacie Ellegood, and Arianna Nicosia getting their first hoops of the season. Haley Marchant did a great job filling in at center and tearing down rebounds, and tying up loose balls. Ari, Andrea, and Haley M were the insurance against the big plays if the Cardinals got by the Jayhawk mini-press - and they did great a job of stopping anyone that got by. Chelsey Pellegrino used her speed to help with the mini-press, and catch up and stop multiple breakaways. Emily Saunders and Kacie Ellegood did a great job bringing the ball down, and adjusting to multiple defenses.

Haley Pozzuto and Nicole Petherbridge led the team in scoring with six points each, and worked oh so hard for those points with the defense swarming at them. Meg Braciska as usual was the leader of the second line with three important points but a crazy number of assists, playing awesome defense while being the main target of the Cardinal defense. The game was tied with little over a minute to go, when Nicole Petherbridge iced a free throw for the tenuous lead, and then Arianna Nicosia sealed the win with her first hoop in TGBL.

As for the Jayhawks, the team's defense was pressing Emily Vellozo, Caitlin Carroll, and Taylor Donahoe and left Ashley Figucia wide open. Ashley was able to capitalize on this and score eight points in the third quarter. Taylor was the defensive player of the game with relentless pressure, effort to deny the fast break, and ten blocked shots on the day.

Leading rebounders were Taylor with nine and Caitlin with eight. Emily chipped in with five steals. Scoring for the Cardinals were Ashley with ten, Emily with four, and Sarah Sullivan, Caitlin and Tayla Spezzano all with two each. Sam Mercurio also did a great job battling the pressure all day and Olivia Houghton and Julia Noone never faltered in their effort.

Waves 27, Cougars 25
Leading the scoring for the Waves was Melissa Markwarth with ten points, Kirsten Dick with eight points, Erika Whynt with six points, Christina Noyes with two points, and Amy Glover with one point. The defensive player of the game was Alicia Moore. Colleen MacNeil led the team in rebounding. Also playing well and contributing to the team win was Amanda Ford, Lauren Riccardi, and Tayla LeGrand.

Delaney Chisolm led the scoring with eight points followed by Jessica Lehman with six points. Sarah Baptista (3 points) was playing at her highest level of the young season, but really set the tone for us pounding away under the basket fighting for rebounds. Mary Crowe is as tough as nails and played great.

Kiara Nash (2 pts) played like a veteran once again and Emily Walker (2 pts) is moving really well on defense and just gets better every week. On offense, she is a natural scorer with a great shot, she will be a big contributor as we move forward. Alyssa Mercurio and Gina Puccia played tenacious defense all game and forced many turnovers leading to fast break points. And we saw great passing skills from Niamh Cote (2 pts) to her teammates heading to the basket for easy points.

Wildcats 23, Huskies 17
The Huskies lost a tough game to a well balanced Wildcats team. Victoria Mirabito and Karalyn Gallella were the top scorers for the Huskies. Defensively the Huskies played great with Andrea DeFina controlling the rebounds and Lisa DeVito and Kiley Barrett playing tough defense. Stephanie McHatton and Sara Letourneau once again played solid at both ends of the court. Steffanie Deluca-Gifford and Kayla Marshall helped keep the Wildcats in check with heads up defense and some great hustle.

Wildcats had an awesome game really working together. Leading scorer was Ally Kelly with six points followed by Erin Davis three, and Julia Kelly, Audrey Casey, Janina Kennedy, Heather Doyle, Rebecca Politis, Katie Dunlevy, and Teagan Trant all with two points. Shauna Daney and Danielle Carhy played excellent under the boards. Defensive game goes to Ally, Julia, Heather, and Katie for second half play.

Change a life this holiday season – including your own

Raise a puppy for Guiding Eyes for the Blind

WALTHAM - Regardless of the winter holiday that you'll celebrate this season, the recurring theme of each is giving. Holiday gifts are given in all forms; some monetary and others not. Whether your holiday ritual is to shop for gifts, make your own, or simply give of your time, Guiding Eyes for the Blind's Puppy Raising Program gives area residents in Eastern Massachusetts the opportunity to start a new holiday tradition.

Guiding Eyes for the Blind is looking for puppy raisers - volunteers that take 8 week old puppies into their homes, and love, nurture, and educate them for a 12 to 16 month period before sending them off to their calling as a guide dog for a blind or visually impaired person. For someone without sight, a Guiding Eyes dog provides a life changing independence, as well as unconditional love and support.

Guide dogs aren't born with the skills to keep a blind person safe; they are carefully trained and prepared for the job. Guiding Eyes puppy raisers provide hours of patient teaching and numerous socialization journeys. Waltham resident Lydia McClymonds is a repeat raiser currently raising her second guide dog, a female Yellow Labrador named Narita. "The whole process is rewarding," said McClymonds, whose dedication first paid off earlier this year when she watched as the first guiding eyes puppy that she lovingly raised, Bev, was paired with her new partner, Valarie Anderson.

As a child, Anderson survived an explosion that took her eyesight. Bev is Anderson's fourth guide dog, but first from Guiding Eyes. "Being paired with a guide dog companion requires an incredible chemistry," said Anderson. "The group at Guiding Eyes made my experience unforgettable, and I formed strong bonds not only with members of the staff, but also the other students in my class receiving guide dogs."

"Seeing Bev graduate was a sad but proud day," commented Gail McClymonds, Lydia's mother. "Bev was a great dog and we had all grown fond of her, but we know that we're lucky to be able to pass her along to someone else who needs her skills and who will continue to love her unconditionally." Fellow Eastern Massachusetts raisers Jeff Borkowski (of North Reading) and Sue Thibideau (of Wrentham) agree that being active in the program is rewarding. "It's a definite inspiration," says Borkowski. Lee Nordin, the program's director, notes that, "without the extraordinary dedication of our puppy raisers, we would simply be unable to provide guide dogs to the blind and visually impaired."

The Guiding Eyes Puppy Raising Program is comprised of more than 400 volunteers from Maine to North Carolina. Puppy raisers come from all walks of life and include couples, families with children, young adults, and senior citizens. Some already have forever pets of their own, while others commit to raising guide dogs as a way to give their love to a new pet each year. No matter the circumstance, all puppy raisers agree that the program is emotionally rewarding. Raisers live in urban, suburban, and rural areas, in apartments, townhomes, and single family residences.

Puppy raising classes are held twice monthly at the Carter Memorial Methodist Church in Needham on Saturdays. Please call 1-866-GE-B-LABS or visit www.guidingeyes.org/volunteer/puppy-raising/ for additional information on the Puppy Raising Program.

Guiding Eyes for the Blind (www.guidingeyes.org), an internationally accredited nonprofit guide dog school, was founded in 1954 to enrich the lives of blind and visually impaired men and women by providing them with the freedom to travel safely, thereby assuring greater independence, dignity and expanded horizons of opportunity. Since that time, Guiding Eyes has become one of the foremost guide dog schools in the world, graduating more than 7,000 guide dog teams. It provides superbly bred Guiding Eyes dogs, professional training and follow-up support services to students at no cost to them and depends on contributions to fulfill its mission. The comprehensive cost of breeding, raising, preparing, training, and supporting a Guiding Eyes team is $45,000. Guiding Eyes for the Blind's Headquarters and Training Center is located in Yorktown Heights, NY and the Canine Development Center is in Patterson, NY.

A look back at Wilmington of yesteryear...

The photogenic Dolph Porter

The section crew on the Boston & Maine Railroad used a hand-car for most of work on the tracks. Dolph Porter is at left. Standing on the hand car is Rudolph Babine of Columbia Street. In back, wearing a vest is Mike Nee. At right is Mundy Babine, who lived on Middlesex Avenue, opposite Federal Street.

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - The Canadian Maritime provinces are very much like New England. Anyone familiar with family names in one region will find the same names in the other. But for the international border, it is one region, one culture.

In Colonial times, there was no established border. English and French settlers both settled in the area and fought for many decades. In the town of Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, there is a fort that changed hands seven times in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries. Today, it is a wonderfully preserved historical exhibit.

About 1755, the British in Nova Scotia ordered all French families to leave the land they knew as Acadia. The story of the Acadians was immortalized by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in the poem Evangeline. One family was put into every town along the Atlantic seaboard. Wilmington had a family by the name of Labadeur. Many of the Acadians went to New Orleans, establishing a strong French culture in that city.

Some of the Acadians were able to return to Nova Scotia. More than a century later, after the Civil War, some of the French families of Nova Scotia began emigrating to Massachusetts. This time, it was of their own choosing, and groups remained intact. They settled in many of the towns of eastern Massachusetts, and their descendants are an important part of those communities today. They did not have the advantage of much schooling, but the language they spoke was closer to that of France than was that of some who came from other parts of Canada.

The families that settled in Wilmington all came from Eel River, Nova Scotia, on the eastern shore, near Yarmouth. The family names included Babine, Doucette, Surrette, Muse, Frotton, White and Porter.

Rudolph "Dolph" Porter was one of those Frenchmen, descended from some of the Acadian families. His great-grandfather had been sent to a town on Cape Cod, whence he made his way back to Nova Scotia.

Dolph was about 23 when he arrived in Wilmington, about 1882. In Nova Scotia, he had been doing carpentry and fishing. Fishermen were paid by shares. Sometimes they would sell their catch in Gloucester, Massachusetts. When they returned to Nova Scotia, the money would be divided among the crew.

So Dolph did his share of fishing, but instead of returning to Nova Scotia, he stayed in Gloucester. Of course, he lost his share of the pay, but the other fishermen didn't mind.

He made his way to Reading, where dwelt another man named Porter — not a relative, just a friend. There he worked for a while for the Hobson Paint family. Then he got a job working on the railroad as a track maintenance man. The job centered in Wilmington, so Dolph moved here.

The maintenance crews had hand carts on which they carried tools and materials. Of course, for the big jobs, there were work trains. Sometimes, in the summer, a work crew would have 20 or 30 men. Many of them would be laid off in the winter, when there was not much work. Dolph and a few others would be kept busy clearing the switches of ice and snow. Many of the Wilmington Frenchmen had railroad jobs. Others worked in the Harriman's Tannery.

Wilmington Square was not the place that it is today. Charlie Hudson had a store on the corner. Upstairs was Ames Hall. On the other side of Church Street, Schamiel MacIntosh had a blacksmith shop, with about four separate buildings. Going north on Main Street was the old Blanchard house, where dwelt Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Buzzell. Then there was the ornate Hiller house, the home of Dr. Henry Hiller and Mrs. Dr. Frances Hiller. Beyond that was a Buck house, and then the home of Sarah D. J. Carter and her sister.

By 1887, Dolph was making good pay, working 10 hours a day as the section foreman.

On April 11, 1887, he married Mary J. White, a Nova Scotia girl of 18 years. The wedding was in St. Augustine's Church in Ballardvale, one of the last Wilmington weddings to be performed there. Not long after the Porter wedding, St. Thomas Parish was founded in Wilmington.

Dolph and Mary Porter moved into a home on Church Street, which had been the Wilmington station of the Wilmington & Andover (W&A) Railroad. It had been moved to Church Street by Mrs. Dr. Hiller, a wealthy resident who had become close with several of Wilmington's Frenchmen. It was originally constructed near the junction of the railroad tracks, where the W&A branched off and crossed Main Street.

Rudolph and Mary Porter's first children were born in that house. One of their sons was Henry Porter, who was the Wilmington postmaster for many years. He retired about 1966 and later worked as circulation manager of the Town Crier.

It was around 1895 that things began to change in Wilmington Square. First, the railroad station burned down. In 1903, Schamiel MacIntosh's blacksmith shop burned, along with Charlie Hudson's store and Ames Hall. All this led to the establishment of a volunteer fire department. Dolph Porter became one of the first members.

About that time, there was a young lady who took up photography. Mildred Holt was the daughter of Postmaster Martin Holt, a Civil War veteran (15th Maine Volunteers). They lived on Forest Avenue, now Kirk Street, near Wilmington Square.

Mildred took many pictures around Wilmington, especially in the Square. Later she established a photography business in Boston, primarily working in medical photography.

In Wilmington Square, whenever there was a camera around, Dolph Porter would be there. He was always happy to pose for a picture, usually in his best blue suit with a dapper derby. In the Holt pictures, if there is a man with a derby, it's Dolph.

When the first street car came through town, on its way to Billerica from Woburn, Dolph jumped aboard and sat in the front seat beside the motorman. Selectman Charles Sargent, wearing a vest and a straw hat, posed as if he were about to board the streetcar.

Sargent was the father of Eddie Sargent, later the superintendent of the Wilmington Water Dept.

After 33 years as a railroad maintenance man, Dolph sort of retired and became the crossing tender at the Wildcat railroad crossing on Main Street. He had a little shanty in which he could sit when it was raining or snowing. In nice weather, he sat out in the sun. He always greeted people driving on Main Street.

Dolph held that job for seven years, and then turned it over to his friend Henry Hiller. He retired, to live at home. A few years later, on April 29, 1932, he died. He was 72 years old, a well liked and well respected resident of Wilmington.

When the first streetcar came to Wilmington, Dolph Porter was there, happy to be in the picture. That's him, wearing a derby, in the front seat next to the motorman.

PEARLE VISION

By: Dr. Paul V. Hamel,
Pearle Vision Wilmington
Did you know in-school vision screenings detect only 20 to 30 percent of vision problems in children? Your child can pass an in-school vision screening, and still have undiagnosed eye problems that can cause learning difficulties.

The Snellen eye chart, used in vision screening, only tests visual acuity - the ability to see distant objects. It is important to follow up school vision screenings with a comprehensive professional eye examination that can detect all potential problems that may impair learning.

The following are some signs that may indicate your child is having vision problems:

- Rubbing eyes repeatedly
- Holding head at an angle when looking at an object
- Shutting or covering one eye to focus
- Holding books too close
- Sitting too close to the television
- Complaining of headaches after reading
- Developing red or crusty eyes
- Using a finger as a place mark when reading.

Because of rapid growth and subsequent vision changes, school-age children should have their eyes examined annually to ensure that potentially serious disorders are detected.

Schedule your child's eye exam TODAY online at HYPERLINK "http://www.PearleVisionWilmington.com" www.PearleVisionWilmington.com or call 978-658-8890.

Proposed gift of land to the Town of Wilmington

How best to utilize this generous gift?

WILMINGTON - The Town of Wilmington has the opportunity to acquire a 5.7 acre parcel of land which includes an historic house (c. 1754) in pristine condition, a well-maintained barn and other farm structures. Ms. Winifred Richardson, a long time resident of the Town, recently deceased, has bequeathed her property at 280 Woburn Street to the Town of Wilmington to be used by the Town's citizens for educational and recreational purposes. To receive this gift, the citizens of the Town of Wilmington need to vote to accept the property at the next Town Meeting on Saturday, April 30, 2011 at Wilmington High School.

Because Ms. Richardson's home is on the National Register of Historic Places and because during her life she had been in touch with the Wilmington Historical Commission regarding her plan to leave the estate to the Town, the Wilmington Board of Selectmen has directed the Historical Commission to solicit ideas from Wilmington organizations and residents regarding potential use of this property.

Public meetings, hosted by the Wilmington Historical Commission, will be held at Wilmington's Fourth of July Building, adjacent to the Town Common, on Tuesday, December 14, 2010 and Wednesday, January 12, 2011. The meetings will begin at 6:30 p.m., start with a short historical and informational presentation, and then be open to questions and discussion regarding the future potential of this property. The Wilmington Historical Commission welcomes residents' ideas and suggestions as to how the Town could make the best use of this property.

If you have any questions, comments, or ideas about this property or the upcoming meetings, please direct your inquiries to:

West family continues Toys for Tots involvement

WILMINGTON - Karen and Frank West are pleased to announce its fourteenth year of involvement in the US Marine Corp Reserve Toys for Tots program. "We are pleased to assist the Marines in making Christmas a little brighter for needy families," said Karen West. "We often take for granted that there are families less fortunate than we are and that they too deserve to have a festive holiday season."

On Saturday, December 11, from 12-4 p.m., is their Annual Photo with Santa Day. For a new toy or cash donation, families can receive a CD full of photos with Santa Claus and his elves. As a special treat, the Boston Bruins Mascot Blades and the Boston Bruins Ice Girls will be on hand from 1-3 p.m. and available for photos and autographs as well. Photos make GREAT Christmas cards. There will be plenty of refreshments and maybe a few surprises. Come join the fun and help the Marines Toys for Tots!

This great holiday tradition will take place at West Real Estate 386 Main Street Wilmington. For those looking for a Toys for Tots box nearest them, or to pick up larger donations, please call (978) 658-1754.

Also, Karen and Frank want to remind the community that there are official Toys for Tots boxes throughout many area businesses and town buildings. If anyone has questions about the program or how to receive toys, please check out the Marines website at www.toysfortots.org.

It's not too late

TEWKSBURY - Due to many requests, the North Street/Dewing Schools are extending the Tewksbury-opoly deadline. There is still time for businesses, nonprofit organizations and individual families to imprint their names or messages on the game board. Sponsor a square and/or other portions of the game, or proudly show off your family name for years to come. For more information contact Christine (North Street/Dewing Schools) at tewksbury-opoly@gmail.com or www.tewksburyopoly.com.

The real life story of Stoneham's Laura Margaret Schmid Hogan

By PAUL FEELY

Think you have trouble deciding which family members to see during the holidays? Imagine having 346 nieces and nephews to choose from.

That's the dilemma facing Stoneham's Laura Margaret Schmid Hogan, whose extraordinary life story is the subject of a new book, called "I Laura: The Story of a Kansas Family," published by Ammons Communications of North Carolina.

Many in the Middlesex East area, especially Stoneham readers, may remember Laura Hogan (now 87) from the days when her late husband Dan Hogan was Superintendent of Schools in the 1970s.

But long before moving to Stoneham Laura grew up in Kansas, one of 15 children that the late Martin and Eva Schmid raised in a small home in Atwood, Kansas. She is the last remaining member of that clan, and her story is a remarkable one to read.

As she writes in the dedication at the start of her book, "This book is dedicated to my descendants. May it shed some light on the background of poverty and hardships of their parents' lives.

May it encourage all of you to live life one day at a time and to dedicate yourself to honesty, integrity and kindness. May it give to one and all assurance that perseverance and dedication to your life's goals will, in the end, bring to you happiness beyond your wildest dreams. This is the wish of the last remaining member of the Schmidts from Atwood, Kansas, your Aunt Laura Schmid Hogan."

Hogan's book was edited by another Stoneham resident, Stephen D. Webb, and how the two came to work together on the project is a story in itself.

"I met him after I got a flat tire," said Hogan. "He helped me, and I started telling him bits and pieces of my story, and he said I should really put it all down in a book. Three years later, we have this, and it's been a wonderful experience."

One obvious question is what would drive someone to spend this much time putting their story, the story of their family, down on paper? Hogan said that because she has such a large Schmid to S-4 time to give!

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"FAIR GAME" COMPELLING

"FAIR GAME" STARS NAOMI WATTS and Sean Penn. It tells the story of Valerie Plame who was a CIA operative who was outed. It is a smart and engaging political thriller straight off the front pages of today's newsstands.

"FAIR GAME"
GRADE: ****

Whether you believe that actual events are accurately portrayed in this film or not, the story is compelling enough, and well-acted, to satisfy even the most casual CNN viewers.

'Fair Game' tells the story of Valerie Plame, played by Naomi Watts, who was a CIA operative who specialized in studying the nuclear capabilities of potential terrorists and rogue nations. When President George W. Bush's White House makes claims that Iraq is stockpiling uranium from Niger, Africa, she doesn't agree with that assessment, and helps set up a trip to Niger involving her husband, former ambassador Joseph Wilson (played by Sean Penn), so he can get in touch with his old contacts and determine the credibility of the intel.

Wilson returned and reported that the president's claims were false, wrote a published editorial saying as much, and stirred up a hornets nest in the White House the likes of which hadn't been seen in years.

It isn't long before administration officials leak

Plame's secret identity in an effort to undermine Wilson's credibility, which also ends Plame's career, puts the lives of her, her husband and their children in jeopardy due to death threats, and almost causes the end of her marriage.

As may know, Plamegate eventually leads to the conviction of vice presidential aide Lewis "Scooter" Libby but director Doug Liman ("The Bourne Identity") does such a great job of recreating these events that the audience remains interested, even though many who choose to see this will already know the outcome before the houselights go down.

Penn and Watts make a very believable married couple. One drawback is that the film is based on two separate books, one by Plame and one by Wilson - which means the story told here is very one-sided, but still very educational for those unfamiliar with the inner workings of Washington.

It is a smart and engaging political thriller, straight off the front pages of today's newsstands.

"127 HOURS"
GRADE: ****

Actor James Franco, announced this week as a co-host for the 2011 Academy Awards broadcast, may end up handing himself the award for Best Actor for his portrayal of climber Aron Ralston in this non-fiction celebration of the human spirit and the will to live, no matter what the odds.

Ralston became famous in 2003 when he emerged, close to death, from a remote canyon in Utah where he had been trapped for five days in a crevice with his arm pinned by a huge, unmoveable boulder.

Stuck there and having run out of water, he faced the certainty of a slow and painful death when he made the choice to amputate his own arm, with a simple and painfully small (and somewhat dull) knife, in order to escape.

After that, he still had to rappel down the rest of the cliff, and walk eight miles out of the canyon before he was eventually rescued.

Despite the fact that many viewers already know how the story plays out won't diminish the power of director Danny Boyle's film, or Franco's performance.

Franco plays Ralston as a man consumed with his love for life. He is always running or skipping somewhere, happy to meet people along the way and eager to explore the world we all share and experience everything it has to offer.

The sequences that show when Ralston is trapped are at times difficult to see (and stomach - the amputation scenes are especially graphic) but you can't look away. Boyle proved what he can do with a camera and a great story when he made the hit 'Slumdog Millionaire', and this time he has an incredible tale to tell.

This movie ends up being less about a man forced to cut off his own arm, and more about finding the will to live against all odds. It is as much a story about humanity itself as it is about one man's ordeal.

"HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 1"
GRADE: ***

The main characters audiences have been following for 10 years hit a new height in their worldly and otherworldly educations - maturity - in this, the seventh Potter film to hit the screens.

In this installment, Harry and friends leave childhood behind as they head into what looks to be a final showdown with Lord Voldemort, whose evil forces continue their reign of terror on the world of wizards.

As things begin to heat up, war, Harry (Daniel Radcliffe), Ron (Rupert Grint), and Hermione (Emma Watson) camp out away from the danger and learn about life while tracking down Voldemort's remaining soul-container Horcruxes, which leads them to learn about the legend of the Deathly Hallows.

The three friends endure loss, separation, isolation, jealousy, and torture, and worse as they attempt to remain together through the most difficult and dangerous time of their lives and ready for what is shaping up to be an all-out battle.

But that won't be resolved until July 15, 2011, when The Deathly Hallows, Part II is released. It's going to be a long eight months for Potter fans.

The stake are very high in this installment, and director David Yates and screenwriter Steve Kloves do a decent job of breaking up author J.K. Rowling's source material into two films, mixing in action sequences, fight scenes, and bits of humor while moving the story to what is a known conclusion for the millions of fans of the literary series these films are based on.

The end is near, and it might already be known by most, but many still want to see it play out.

"UNSTOPPABLE"
GRADE: ***

There's a freight train rolling along without a conductor in rural Pennsylvania, and it's gaining speed - and that's the right word here, 'Speed' as this disaster film starring Denzel Washington and Star Trek's Chris Pine plays like a worthy followup to that film starring Keanu Reeves and Sandra Bullock.

The duo are good together, and overall the movie works. It is a good action movie with solid acting by all the main players.

SAVING FACE...BOOK IN WOBURN

"School Committee member Patricia Chisholm recently challenged the wisdom of making a potential social networking policy too restrictive," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"According to Chisholm, while the initial knee-jerk reaction may be to institute strict prohibitions on the types of permissible activity on sites like Facebook, a recent forum on the topic made her reconsider that gut stance."

"In particular, the School Committee member explained that one presenter at the recent Mass. Association for School Committees (MASC) conference argued that the explosive popularity of social networking sites make them almost impossible forums to completely control."

"While Chisholm still agrees that some types of contact, such as inappropriate teacher-student friendships on sites like Facebook, needs to be regulated, she cautioned that students now need to learn how to limit their exposure."

"They were talking about the difference of age of teachers and how some of them almost live on [places like Facebook]," said Chisholm. "We have to teach students how to live with that, because it's not going away."

"We always think it's an easy fix to ban something, but that's not always the best way," she added ...

"It's not uncommon for college-acceptance letters and job offers to be withdrawn because of improper photographs and messages scrawled on personal pages, not to mention firings and criminal charges being filed against parties for inappropriate content."

TIME TO 'THINK OUT' IN WINCHESTER

voted ... on when to hold the election and whether or not to combine it with a proposed general override. Ultimately, the board felt that since the general override, which could take place in either February or March, wasn't a certainty it would be pointless to hold off the Vinson-Owen override.

"There are very good reasons," said Chairman Tom Howley, "to have both overrides together. However, we (the Board of Selectmen) need time to think out the operating override."

"Currently, acting Town Manager Mary Ellen Lannon projects a $3.1M deficit for FY12 and a $3.8M deficit for FY13. With that in mind, she informed the board that a general operating override may be a necessity. Otherwise, the board would be forced to dip into its Free Cash reserves, spending $3M to cover the deficit and reducing the reserve percentage to six percent in FY12 (at the lowest level the board would allow with its Free Cash policy) and 2.5 percent in FY13 (well below the lowest allowed level under the Free Cash policy)."

"Taking those numbers into consideration, Lannon showed the board two alternatives: one with an override and one without...."

SCENE ... LESS TRANSITION IN BURLINGTON-SO FAR, THAT IS.

"At the recent meeting of the Board of Selectmen, Town Administrator Robert Mercier said town officials have looked at scenarios showing increases of 1 percent, 2 percent, and 3 percent for fiscal 2012 operating budgets."

Mercier noted that those options would be among the topics discussed at an already scheduled joint meeting of the Board of Selectmen, School Committee, and Ways and Means Committee during which the boards would try to work out a set of guidelines as preparations for fiscal 2012 budgets proceeded.

At that point, Mercier explained that figures for the 2 and 3 percent increases show a deficit. However, he cautioned that calculations are based on preliminary figures.

"These are very early numbers," he stated.

"Town financial officials have stated that fiscal 2012 is likely to be more challenging than the last two years," notes the Burlington edition of the "Woburn Daily Times."

"Mercier said budget calculations reflect a 5 percent drop in local aid and a conservative approach on local receipts, even with the town having adopted local option hotel and meals taxes."

"The town administrator said he was told by School Supt. Dr. Eric Conti that the schools need a 2 percent increase to maintain the same level of services next year. Mercier noted the schools will have increased costs with the opening of a new and much larger Memorial School."

"A major factor in next year's budget is the expiration of all collective bargaining agreements with employee unions, both school and town side, on June 30, the final day of the current fiscal year."

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY

TRIVIA: This American tennis star died in 2009 at the age of 88. He won a combined six singles and doubles titles at Wimbledon and the U.S. Championships in 1946 and 1947. Wilson sells a tennis racquet bearing his name. Who is he? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

It is only fitting that the UMass Lowell field hockey team completed its own triple crown while in Louisville, Ky. In addition to their two previous championships this season - Northeast-10 Regular Season and Tournament - the River Hawks can now add NCAA National Champions to their list of accomplishments.

No. 1 UMass Lowell completed a perfect 24-0 season, the first undefeated National Champions in school history, with a 1-0 victory over No. 2 Shippensburg (21-2) in the NCAA Final played in Trager Stadium on the campus of the University of Louisville on Saturday afternoon.

part of the NCAA DII Fall Championships Festival on Saturday afternoon.

One shot was all UMass Lowell needed to take home the second National Title in program history, as senior midfielder Liz Day (North Andover, Mass.) recorded the only shot on goal for the River Hawks and lone goal of the game. The River Hawk defense and goalkeeper Melanie Hopkins (Harwich, Mass.) held down the fort for the rest of the tilt, keeping Shippensburg scoreless to preserve the win.

"Defense was the difference for us today," said Head Coach Shannon Hlebichuk, who captured her second title in nine years at the helm of the program. "I know it's cliché when they say offense wins games but defense wins championships but that was certainly the case today. We have a powerful offense - scoring over 100 goals this year - so our defense has kind of been overlooked. But for them to come out in a National Championship game and play the majority of the minutes in our defensive end and to stay composed and disciplined and not panic? That was awesome to watch. They deserved that win."

UMass Lowell took advantage of its first penalty corner of the game, as FRESHMAN MIDFIELDER RACHEL MCCARTHY (READING, MASS.) inbounded the ball to SENIOR FORWARD SAMMY MACY (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) at the top of the circle before she found midfielder Day on the right middle of the circle to put the River Hawks up 1-0 in the 22nd minute of play. The shot would prove to be the difference-maker in the 1-0 game.

Hopkins made a pair of stellar saves on Shippensburg's 10th penalty corner of the game, batting away the Raiders' initial shot and stopping the rebound, as well, in the second half, stopping all six shots she faced, including four in the second stanza.

When the River Hawks couldn't convert on their fourth penalty corner of the game, with just over 11 minutes left in regulation, Shippensburg had a breakaway down the field, stopped by senior Jaime Hadley (Chelmsford, Mass.), once again preventing the Raiders from tying the game.

With just over six minutes remaining in the tilt, sophomore defender Sarah Wilcox (Old Town, Maine) made a diving defensive save after Shippensburg's 12th penalty corner, saving the equalizer from finding its way to the back of the cage.

"Most of the game we were able to keep their girls out to the side and when we couldn't, our goalie Mel made amazing saves when we needed her," said Hadley. "That one ball that was pretty much on the goal line, Sarah Wilcox stepped up and cleared that right out. It was perfect, exactly what she should have done and they didn't get that goal."

UMass Lowell captured its 24th victory of the year despite Shippensburg owning advantages in penalty corners (12-4) and shots (13-3). Hopkins' six-save shutout, her 18th of the year, broke the NCAA DII record for goalie shutouts in a single season, only adding to the impressive list of accomplishments for this year's team and student-athletes.

Day, Macy, Enaire and Hopkins were all named to the NCAA All-Tournament team for their standout efforts to lift their team to victory.

After making it to the previous three National Title games, UMass Lowell was finally able to take home the National Championship trophy and cap off their perfect season.

"Four years of working so hard, to end it on this is just amazing," said Hadley.

"To go 24-0 and have a perfect season - it's just unreal," added Enaire. "It's the best feeling in the world."

Need some help with this week's question? His initials are J.K.

WILLIAMS SOPHOMORE WR DAREN HARTWELL (NORTH READING, MA) is the 29th Eph since August of 1989 to appear in the Faces in the Crowd section in Sports Illustrated. Hartwell was in the November 29th issue.

Hartwell tied one Williams record this fall and set one. He twice tied the school mark for TD catches in a game when he snared 3 in wins over Trinity and Middlebury. With his TD catch in the finale versus Amherst that ensured a perfect season (8-0) Hartwell set the Williams single season mark for TD catches with 10.

Hartwell caught 35 passes on the year for a NESCAC best 695 yards (19.9 per catch). He scored on TD passes of 83, 89 and 92 yards. He also returned 24 punts for 239 yards and 11 kickoffs for 232 yards.

Hartwell led the Ephs in total offense with 1,174 yards, in scoring with 60 points and was named First Team All-NESCAC as a WR and Second Team All-NESCAC as a return specialist.

MASSACHUSETTS MARITIME SENIOR BACK JON WHITE OF LYNNFIELD was selected to play in the 2010 New England Inter-Regional Soccer League (NEISL) All-Star Game on Sunday, November 28th at Harvard University's Solider Field Soccer Stadium.

A native of Lynnfield, Mass. and a graduate of Lynnfield High School, White was one of eight players representing the Massachusetts State Collegiate Athletic Conference in this year's contest, which featured outstanding seniors from all divisions across New England.

White earned first team-all-MASCAC honors for his performance this season on the field and was tabbed to the ESPN Academic All-District Team for his efforts in the classroom by the College Sports Information Directors of America. White anchored Head Coach Greg Perry's defensive unit as a team co-captain and added a pair of goals in 16 starts this fall, including the game-winning tally in a 3-1 season-opening triumph at Mount Ida on September 1st.

Massachusetts Maritime matched its win total of the 2009 campaign with seven overall victories this fall.

Schmid

family, she wrote this book more for her extended relatives than anyone else, so that they have a better understanding of their roots. She has told the tale, because she has not forgotten it, in an effort to make sure the story of the Schmid is not lost to history.

As she writes in her book, "Having been born on the high plains of the United States in the early twentieth century, when the grasslands and the mercy of God represented our existence, I developed something of an awareness of life, different from the life we all know now."

"As the youngest female in a large family, experiencing life and death through the harsh reality of farming in the central United States brought me to something few others have experienced. Growing up was an existence sparse with amenities. We did not know what lay ahead, and we lived each day as it came."

"I remember the serenity of a home-life supported by my Father, dedicated to building a home for his endearing wife and children. Back then a good home was how you survived, how you existed; not a luxury like it is today. In those days an endearing wife and MANY children (18 born, 15 that lived) were necessary for simple existence in that meek environment, over which we had little control. My Father's faith and commitment to life through the poverty of high plains farming is the root of this story."

"Did my parents know a different life than you or I? I don't believe they dreamed as we do, that life is ours to live and to love, as we do today. All they looked for was survival and enjoying their family as the Lord gave it to them. They learned early to be kind, honest, to work hard and to learn to appreciate each other no matter where you came from or what your purpose was for being there. They counted only pennies, looked for no recognition and accepted life on a daily basis. Faith in God, trust in God and a deep commitment to life was what got them through."

"I dedicate this book to both my Mother and my Father. Lucky for me I was part of this family. This book details my life in its developing ways, my triumphs and tragedies, my life experiences as the years rolled on. Let it be a tribute to all my brothers and sisters young and old, far and near, and a story for the world of a life and a lifetime that I, Laura, have not forgotten."

Laura's late husband Dan had many connections to the Middlesex East area. Born on January 6, 1921 at Winchester Hospital to a Wakefield family headed by Daniel W. and Frances McMahon Hogan, Dan was the oldest of three boys.

Dan graduated from Wakefield High in 1939, spent two years in college, and then enlisted in the Army Air Corps during World War II. Dan served in WWII with the 27th Fighter group in the European Theater, then later in the National Guard as the public information officer for the 182nd Infantry 26th Yankee Division. Dan retired as a Lieutenant Colonel from the National Guard after many years of service in 1984.

He went to college at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, where he met and married Laura Schmid. After graduation in 1947, Dan and Laura returned to his home in Massachusetts. Dan completed a Master's in Education with a specialty in guidance counseling in 1952. In 1956, he was appointed Director of Guidance for the Stoneham Public School System. From 1958 to 1963, Dan served as the junior high school Principal and from 1963 to 1966 as Director of Special Education in the district. In 1966 he became Assistant Superintendent of Schools followed by his appointment in 1970 as Superintendent of the Stoneham Schools.

In 1967, Dan completed his Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study in School Administration from Boston University. During his tenure at the Stoneham schools, he was heavily involved in the building of what is currently Stoneham High School. They moved to Stoneham in 1971.

After his retirement in 1984, Dan chaired the Stoneham School Building Committee that built and/or refurbished four elementary schools in the district. The school entry road at the Colonial Park School was eventually named Daniel W. Hogan Jr. Way in his honor.

Recalling her life story has been an exciting exercise for Hogan.

"Going back some 86 years takes some thought and doing. I have such grand feelings of childhood, yet to remember all the things that took place is not easy. There were 15 of us that grew up in the Schmid family. I understand that my mother actually had 21 pregnancies, three miscarriages and three stillborns. My father always said he had two baseball teams, so that meant the three stillborns would have been girls, but were they named? Where were they buried? I was never told."

Hogan has received great feedback from readers at several book signing events she has attended.

"I had one woman purchase the book, then come up to me again the next day," said Hogan. "She asked if I really wrote it, because she said she started the book last night, and couldn't stop reading it until she was done. I liked hearing that."

Middlesex East Publications, in association with the Salvation Army will sponsor "M.E. Santa" this holiday season to benefit needy individuals and families in the area.

In many past years, the Salvation Army has worked quietly within the communities. But this year it is asking for assistance due to increased pressure to provide services.

Funds will be distributed locally in the M.E. communities which include: Wilmington, Tewksbury, No. Reading, Lynnfield, Reading, Stoneham, Burlington, Woburn, Wakefield and Winchester.

A list of contributors will be published in Middlesex East throughout December.

Corporations and individuals are encouraged to include their names as part of their donations as efforts are made to promote the fund.

The "M.E. Santa" effort is actually part of the Salvation Army's ongoing service program. Please Help!

Cookies and Christmas: A match made in holiday heaven

There's a good reason fitness club memberships tend to spike come January. After a holiday season spent party-hopping and letting their diets fall by the wayside, many people look to the gym as the means to helping shed those inevitable holiday pounds.

Perhaps no food is more popular around the holidays than cookies. Cookies are as much a part of the holiday season as Christmas trees, long lines at the mall and kids searching the house for presents. For those with guests to entertain this holiday season, the following recipe for "Kitchen-Sink Chocolate Chip Cookies" from Elinor Klivans' "The Essential Chocolate Chip Cookbook" (Chronicle Books) is sure to please.

Kitchen-Sink Chocolate Chip Cookies

Makes About 36 Cookies

1 cup plus 2 tablespoons unbleached all-purpose flour

3/4 teaspoon baking soda

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter, at room temperature

1/2 cup packed light
brown sugar

6 tablespoons granulated sugar

1 large egg

1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
extract

3 cups semisweet
chocolate chips

1 cup pecan halves

1 cup walnut halves or large pieces

1 cup blanched whole almonds, toasted and chopped roughly in half

Position a rack in the middle of the oven. Preheat the oven to 350 F. Line two or three baking sheets with parchment paper.

Sift the flour, baking soda, and salt into a medium bowl and set aside.

In a large bowl, using an electric mixer on medium speed, beat the butter, brown sugar and granulated sugar until smoothly blended, about 1 minute. Stop the mixer and scrape the sides of the bowl as needed during mixing. Add the egg and vanilla and mix until blended, about 1 minute.
The mixture may look slightly curdled. On low speed, add the flour mixture, mixing just until it is incorporated. Mix in the chocolate chips, pecans, walnuts, and almonds until evenly distributed.

Use a tablespoon to drop well-rounded tablespoonfuls of dough (about 2 tablespoons each) onto the prepared baking sheets, spacing the cookies 2 inches apart.

Bake the cookies one sheet at a time until the edges are lightly browned and the centers are slightly colored, about 14 minutes. Cool the cookies on the baking sheets for 10 minutes, then use a wide metal spatula to transfer the cookies to a wire rack to cool completely.

The cookies can be stored in a tightly covered container at room temperature for up to four days.

Choices: You can add 1 cup of raisins, dried cranberries, or chopped dried apricots to the dough with the chips and nuts. White, bittersweet, or milk chocolate chips, or a combination, can be substituted for the semisweet chips.

The flu vaccine -- Protection from the flu. Peace of mind for you.

As a parent, you do everything you can to protect your children. Buckle them up in the car. Watch them closely when they're in the water. Teach them to look both ways when they cross the street. Warn them not to talk to strangers.

How about making sure they get the flu vaccine? The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommend that everyone 6 months and older get the flu vaccine every year. That includes children from tiny to teen.

Getting the flu vaccine is the best way to prevent flu. For children younger than 5 years of age and those with chronic health conditions, like asthma and diabetes, getting the flu vaccine is especially important to avoid serious flu complications like pneumonia, which can lead to hospitalization and even death. About 20,000 children younger than 5 years old are hospitalized each year from flu complications. Flu can also make some health conditions worse.

Babies younger than 6 months are too young to get the flu vaccine, but they are at higher risk for complications and death from flu. Because of this, it is important that family members and other people that care for young infants get vaccinated to help ensure that they don't transmit the infection to them. "It's important that all family members and caregivers get the flu vaccine to 'cocoon' infants," says Dr. Anne Schuchat, Assistant Surgeon General of the U.S. Public Health Service and CDC's Director of the National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases.

The 2009 H1N1 flu (so named for the year the virus was identified) hit children particularly hard last year, and that virus is expected to be around again this year. The 2010-11 flu vaccine includes protection against the 2009 H1N1 flu virus, along with two seasonal flu viruses expected to circulate this season.

There are two kinds of flu vaccine: the flu shot and a flu nasal spray vaccine. These vaccines cannot give you the flu because they are made from killed or weakened influenza viruses. Flu vaccines have an excellent safety record. Hundreds of millions of Americans have safely gotten flu vaccines and most people generally do not experience any side effects after getting a flu vaccine. When side effects do occur, they are generally mild and include redness and soreness at the injection site for the flu shot, and occasionally sore throat, runny nose and rarely fever after the nasal spray vaccine. While these symptoms can be uncomfortable and inconvenient, these symptoms are mild and resolve quickly when compared to a bad case of the flu.

"Parents who take their children to get the flu vaccine can rest a little easier knowing they are helping to protect their family against a potentially serious illness," Dr. Schuchat said. "And of course, parents should be vaccinated, too."

Children should get the flu vaccine as soon as possible to ensure early protection for this flu season. Most children 6 months through 8 years who get the flu vaccine for the first time will need to get 2 doses of the vaccine, the second dose (booster dose) 4 weeks after the first. Healthy children ages 2 and older can get the nasal-spray vaccine instead of a flu shot. Talk to your child's doctor or nurse if you're not sure. Once vaccinated, the body needs two weeks to produce antibodies for protection against the flu. The vaccine does not provide protection against non-flu viruses that can cause colds and other respiratory illnesses.

Check with your doctor, pharmacist, or local health clinic about getting you and your child vaccinated from flu.

For more information about the dangers of flu and the benefits of the flu vaccine, talk to your doctor or nurse, visit www.flu.gov, or call CDC at 1800CDCINFO (8002324636).

What's a "Baby Boomer"?

"The term "Baby Boomer" is used to describe people born between the years 1946 and 1964. These were children conceived after the soldiers from World War II came back home to be with their loved ones.

Because this time in North America was one of growth and prosperity, and helped to produce nearly 20 million new children, it was said to be a Baby Boom era. Author Landon Jones is credited with creating the term "Baby Boomer" in his book "Great Expectations: America and the Baby Boom Generation."

Many people have tried to define this generation with generalizations that boast varying degrees of accuracy. The Baby Boomer generation has been instrumental in helping to reform the music, politics and culture of the 1960s and 1970s. Boomers are associated with proliferating feminism, gay rights, civil rights, and many other efforts that changed the complexion of modern day society.

According to research, Baby Boomers tend to reside in metropolitan and suburban areas more so than rural areas. And when polled by the American Association of Retired People, 20 percent have said they would probably do some sort of work after retirement.
